Nazi Radio Ship Brought to U. S. Port

ARRIVES IN BOSTON TODAY UNDER ESCORT

Personnel of Vessel Will Be Taken To Immigration Station For Action.

IDENTIFIED AS BUSKO

Attempt To Set Up Greenland Listening Post System By Germans Seen.

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON—The Nazi radio expedition ship, captured by the United States navy off the coast of Greenland after a secret wireless station had been set up there, arrived at Boston today in the custody of the naval ship Bear.

The 20-ton vessel, of Norwegian registry, which the navy intercepted in American defense waters "during September," and her crew of about 20 arrived during the morning at the entrance of the harbor and anchored.

The Bear, former flagship of Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expeditions, after communicating with local naval authorities, subsequently received orders to proceed to a berth.

Authorities said that the personnel of the seized ship would be brought to the immigration station and would be subjected to the established procedure for dealing with foreign nationals brought to American soil.

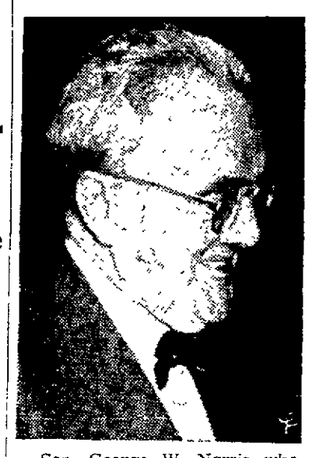
The Norwegian craft was identified as the Busko.

Naval officials withheld immediate comment on the vessel, although some Washington sources previously had advanced an opinion that the seized expedition might provide evidence of a systematic Nazi attempt to set up meteorological and military listening posts in the Greenland area.

Meteorologists have said that knowledge of weather conditions in Greenland would provide information of extreme importance to the operation of submarines and in the timing of Luftwaffe attacks against Great Britain, since Europe's weather moves from west to east across the Atlantic.

The Greenland radio station was described by the navy as having been "manned by an agent of the German Gestapo and two other Norwegians," who had been put ashore before the navy intercepted the ship.

Predicts Sea War



Sen. George W. Norris who voted against entry of the United States into World War I, today predicted that this nation might get into war with Japan "quick as a wink" if Germany should defeat Soviet Russia. Norris predicted it would be a sea and air war and said he was not so sure it would be a bad thing for the U. S.

Norris Says U. S. Navy Could Sink Japanese Fleet Within Two Weeks.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Senator Norris (Ind., Neb.) declared today that an American-Japanese conflict in the Pacific might develop "quick as a wink" if Germany should defeat Soviet Russia, and he added he was "not so sure that war with Japan would be a bad thing for us."

The 80-year-old legislator, only remaining member who cast a senate vote against entry into the last World war, said that a German victory over Russia might lead Japan to interfere with American shipping in the Pacific.

The United States, he asserted, would not tolerate any such interference, and he disclosed that navy officials had advised him "they could sink the Japanese fleet within two weeks."

"Although they may be a little optimistic," he said, 'I believe we could lick them (the Japanese). It would be a sea and air war, and it would not be a question of sending an army.

"A navy man told me that our

PLEA REFUSED

Judge Won't Accept Burch's Partial Guilt Statement.

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Frank Burch, Akron, attorney, attempted to plead guilty to violation of the alien registration act in district court yesterday but Justice James W. Morris refused to accept the plea.

Burch, who was indicted by a federal grand jury which has been investigating Nazi propaganda activities, told the court that he wished "to enter a plea of guilty except that at no time did I think I was using German money" in non-interventionist work.

"I'll have to be more fully advised as to the facts," Justice Morris said. Does a mistake constitute guilt?"

Ex-President of Panama Stops En Route Home.

CRISTOBAL, C. Z.—(INS)—The steamer carrying former President Arnulfo Arias of Panama back home from Havana anchored in Cristobal harbor this morning.

Canal Zone officials went aboard immediately to confer with him. Arias was deposed in a bloodless coup d'etat during his absence in Havana.

Police Quickly End Sugar Sales At Penny A Pound

Three Mansfield residents tried to help the government in its fight against inflation yesterday by selling sugar at from one to three cents a pound but police interrupted business when it was discovered the sugar had been stolen from a Mansfield wholesale company.

Police reported that the trio had broken the seal on a freight car near the Albert F. Remy company on North Diamond street over the week-end and had taken 21 bags of sugar, each containing 25 pounds.

Five of the bags were recovered yesterday in the northeast part of the city but the trio had gone from house to house selling the other 16 bags at from 25 to 60 cents each.

Officials of the Remy company said that employes had started unloading the freight car on Saturday and had resealed it over the week-end. Yesterday, they discovered the seals broken and after an inventory discovered that the 21 bags, valued at about $25, were missing.

Police arrested one of the three men Sunday night on an intoxication charge. Yesterday, they picked up the other two and began questioning them. No charges have been filed against the suspects as yet.

Decides He 'Was Fool' to Confess Killing of Woman Golf Champion

Penney's Sorry He Signed Statement; Father of Victim Collapses.

(By United Press)

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Police expected to start back today by automobile to Lexington, Ky., with Tom Penney, 32, who said he was a fool to confess the murder of Marion Miley, champion golfer, and her mother.

"They didn't have much of a case against me," Penney decided 24 hours after he signed a detailed confession, which implicated as his accomplice Bob Anderson, Louisville night club operator. "If I had it to do over again, I never would confess.

"They tell me now that Anderson refuses to confess. He's got sense. He won't burn. They haven't got a good case against him, and I'm not saying anything else.

"I've talked too much. The only thing they have against us is what I've said."

Penney said his principal concern was for his two children, a boy four and a daughter two. He said they lived with their mother in Lexington.

"I'm not saying what their names are or where they live," he said. "After all, they've got to go on living in Lexington."

Lexington police who secured Penney's confession said they would leave today in Anderson's car for the return trip retracing Penney's route from Lexington via Florida to corroborate the carpenter's story at points en route.

Penney said he fled in the car on Anderson's suggestion after they had shot the Mileys while robbing the Lexington Country club of $130 Sept. 28. Anderson reported the car stolen and Penney was arrested in it here last Wednesday. His companion, Leo Gaddis, 40, not implicated in the Miley crime, was released yesterday.

Today Tom Penney, 32, seated right above, was sorry he had signed a confession that he murdered Marion Miley, champion woman golfer, during a robbery at a Lexington, Ky., country club. The picture shows him signing the statement at Fort Worth, Tex., where he was arrested.

OUSTS PUBLIC FROM SESSIONS

Senate Committee In Secret Hearing on Neutrality Act Changes.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The house foreign affairs committee considering neutrality law revisions went temporarily into secret session today despite stormy protests that this was "star chamber" procedure.

Before any witnesses were called, chairman Bloom (D-NY) vigorously gavelled down attempts of Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) to place certain material in the committee record.

Vorys sought permission to record a letter which he and three other Republican members had addressed to Bloom, protesting against the limitation of the hearing to two days, together with telegrams received by the chairman from opposition witnesses.

Upon the motion of Rep. Luther A. Johnson (D-Tex), Bloom ruled the request should be considered in executive session, to which

Prisoners Permit Emasculation To Obtain Paroles

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Warden Frank D. Henderson of Ohio penitentiary revealed today that six prisoners convicted of sex crimes voluntarily have submitted to emasculation in order to obtain paroles.

Henderson admitted there is no legal authority in the Ohio statutes for such operations but said that any legally sane person may submit voluntarily "to any kind of an operation." Prisoners undergoing these operations sign waivers exempting physicians and prison officials from any future claims for damages.

They also must obtain consent of close relatives, including their wives, if married, for the operations.

The first such operation was performed on Feb. 29, 1940. The prisoner was released by the commission July 15, 1940. The other five either have been released or expect to be shortly.

The prisoners emasculated were serving sentences for rape, assault to rape or incest, the records showed. Most of them were over 40 years.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR DAUGHERTY

Former Attorney General Will Be Buried at Washington C. H.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Funeral services will be held today for Harry M. Daugherty, 81, former U. S. attorney general who died Sunday of a heart ailment.

The Rev. James Thomas, pastor of the Broad Street Methodist church will conduct the services at a funeral home. The body will be placed in the family mausoleum at Washington Court House, O., Daugherty's boyhood home.

Governor John W. Bricker will be an honorary pallbearer.

WORK ANYHOW

Employes Resume Output of Defense Items After Fire.

FALL RIVER, Mass.—(AP)—Alongside ruins of a $13,000,000 fire, cause of which remained undetermined, production of such defense items as gas masks, barrage balloons and cartridge clips resumed today at the Firestone Rubber and Latex corporation plant.

Approximately 2,000 of the plant's 3,200 workers were thrown into idleness, however. The flames destroyed five of the 12 buildings on the Firestone property, damaged three and burned thousands of tons of government-owned rubber.

Deputy State Fire Marshal John Sullivan said investigation so far revealed no trace of sabotage.

COUNTY RELIEF COSTS GO UP

Increase Shown For First Time This Year; Seasonal Demands Hike Expenditures.

Mansfield and Richland county relief costs during September showed the first substantial increase since the first of the year. Relief officials said the rise was due to seasonal needs for fuel and clothing for school children.

J. V. Finney, relief director, reported that the combined costs for the city and county totalled $6,193 or $283 more than August relief expenditures.

The cost increased, Finney said, although the case load was decreased 28 cases or 95 persons. Regular county costs amounted to $1,357.91 while those in the city were $2,201.25. County medical services for indigents cost $595.64 while city costs for the same work was $612.02.

The combined areas handled relief for 231 cases including 661 persons during the month, 393 of the persons living in the city.

Before September, relief costs showed a decrease each month since January with the exception of June when high medical costs brought the total to $80 more than in May. Even with the September increase, relief costs are still almost half of those recorded last January when $12,160 was expended.

Twenty-six persons were certified for WPA work during the month. Of the 40 assigned to projects, 16 failed to report and one

CITY HIT BY NEW WAVE OF CAR LOOTINGS

Police Chief Blames Cleveland Gang For Series of Tire and Wheel Thefts.

ISSUES WARNING

Urges Motorists to Keep Autos Locked, Park Them In Well-Lighted Sections.

A new wave of automobile accessory thefts which broke out in Mansfield during the past week was blamed by Police Chief M. K. Bates today on a Cleveland gang which operates from city to city, returning the stolen accessories to Cleveland where they are sold.

At the same time, the chief issued a warning to motorists urging them to keep their autos locked, especially rear compartments where spare tires and wheels are kept.

Bates said that at least five cars have been looted of spare tires and wheels so far this month. Two more cars were looted last night. Scores of tires and wheels were stolen during the summer months.

W. L. Bush, Westview boulevard, and Adam Brumm, 471 Rembrandt street, were the latest to report thefts of this type. Brumm said that a tire and wheel valued at $35 had been taken from the rear compartment of his car while it was parked on Blymyer avenue near Glessner. Bush reported a tire and wheel of the same value was taken while his auto was parked near the Coliseum.

In addition to the accessory thefts, several motorists have reported the loss of portable radios, clothing and other articles from their cars. Two autos were stolen during the past week.

Robert Adelman, Brunswick hotel, told police last night that a $27.50 overcoat and the bill of sale for his auto had been stolen from his car while it was parked at Diamond and Fourth streets.

Chief Bates said that he suspected the Cleveland gang has been operating here for the past week and has detailed detectives to make an investigation. The

STEAMER SUNK

Nazis Tow Lifeboats Near To Shore After Torpedoing.

LISBON—(AP)—Sinking of the 2,044-ton Portuguese steamer Corte Real by German submarine was disclosed last night when her six passengers and crew of 36 were landed here by a trawler after the undersea raider had towed their lifeboats close to the coast.

Two Portuguese women and their two children, who were among the passengers, were given a 20-mile ride aboard the submarine, Captain Jose Narciso Marques said, when the German commander saw they were panic-stricken. The only other passengers were an American physician, Dr. Charles Cant Buffinger, 26, and a Frenchman.

The sinking took place Sunday afternoon, approximately 24 hours after the Corte Real sailed from Oporto with a cargo of tungsten ore, cork, canned fish and Swiss watches for the United States.

Vanguard Fight Rages 65 Miles From Capital

Civilians Build Fortifications Near City As Nazis Claim Field Pieces Are In Shelling Distance; Reds Describe Mechanized Battles.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were credited with slashing new gains of 110 and 60 miles in two vital sectors of the 13-day-old battle for Moscow today, with Nazi vanguards reported battling only 65 miles west of the Soviet capital and long-range German siege guns in a position to shell Moscow's "outermost defense belt."

There was little gloom in Moscow itself, however. While conceding German superiority in numbers and weight of machines, the Russians declared their resistance was growing and that Red army counter-attacks were increasing in frequency.

Thousands of Moscow civilians were reported toiling feverishly to erect chains of field fortifications around the beleaguered capital, and masses of fresh Soviet troops were hurrying to combat the Nazi juggernaut under an oath to "die here but not let the enemy into Moscow."

London advices said advance German troops had reached Mozhaisk, about midway between Moscow and fallen Vyazma, but had been ejected by fiercely counter-attacking Red army forces.

The thrust apparently marked the closest approach to Moscow since the German offensive began Oct. 2.

A Berlin spokesman indicated also that Nazi columns had encircled Kaluga, 100 miles south of Moscow, and rolled on, leaving Soviet forces there to be mopped up by German rearguards. If true, this would mean that the Germans already had advanced more than half the distance from Bryansk, the scene of much of the heaviest fighting, to the U. S. S. R. capital.

The Germans asserted that still another Nazi column moving down on Moscow from the Valdai hills to the northwest was nearing the Moscow-Leningrad railway.

No amplification was forthcoming on the report that German siege guns were now in a position to shell Moscow's outer perimeter of defenses. Normally, field guns have a range under 25 miles, but German "Big Berthas" during the World war bombarded Paris from a distance of more than 75 miles.

The Russians, reporting a vast slaughter of the invaders, admitted the fall of strategic Vyazma, 125 miles west of Moscow, but declared the German offensive was slackening before growing Red army resistance in that sector.

Soviet front-line dispatches pictured a series of gigantic mechanized battles raging over the fields west of Moscow, with

PRIME MINISTER ADMITS ANXIETY

Declines To Permit Debate In Parliament on War Situation In Russia.

(By International News Service)

LONDON — Prime Minister Winston Churchill today admitted "anxiety" over the situation on the Russian front but declined to make a full statement on the progress of hostilities.

Churchill, however, flatly refused to permit a full debate of the Russian problem in parliament.

Emanuel Shinwell, laborite, appealed to Churchill when the house of commons assembled to make a special statement on Russia.

"No," the prime minister said. "This must obviously be left to the Russian high command, who are conducting their great battle. I should not presume to add anything to their communiques at this juncture."

Shinwell pressed the matter by saying:

"Is Mr. Churchill aware there is considerable disquiet in the country about the whole substance and speed of assistance rendered Russia? Will he provide special facilities for early debate?"

"Mr. Shinwell should not suppose he has a monopoly on anxiety," Churchill responded.

Once again Shinwell asked:

"In view of the disquiet and anxiety shared by others, will Mr. Churchill provide facilities for early debate?"

"I don't see any reason for early debate and I think it might be detrimental," Churchill said.

Dominion Workers Vote Tomorrow On Bargaining Agent

Employes in the production, press room and maintenance departments at the Dominion Electrical Manufacturing company will vote tomorrow in an NLRB election to determine whether they shall be represented by Local 1405 of the Machinists union (AFL) as bargaining agent or by no union.

The election date was set late yesterday by Baker McAlpin, NLRB representative from Cleveland.

Meanwhile, union members were still picketing the plant, and said they would continue to picket and stay away from their jobs until they are given a contract by the company, regardless of the outcome of the election.

At a mass meeting at Trades Council hall yesterday, more than 200 union members voted to continue picketing until the company signs a contract.

Rudolph Doklovic, president of the union, said prior to the meeting that workers would return to their posts immediately after the NLRB schedules the election.

However, R. D. Rust, representing Washington headquarters of the union, said that as a result of the mass meeting vote, picketing of the plant will continue until a contract is approved.

The plant has been idle four days. Platers and buffers whose union is already recognized by the management, have refused to cross the picket line.

DETROIT—(INS)—The Hudson Motor Car company will close down at 1 o'clock today and 8,000 men will be made idle because of a shortage of body frames which are supplied by the Midland Steel company in Cleveland, scene of a strike, a Hudson spokesman announced today.

The spokesman could not say when the plant would re-open, pointing out that no other source of frames is immediately available. Defense contracts, it was said, are not affected.

'Stubbornest Man' Defies Draft, But Enlists to Flout Army's Red Tape

Wouldn't Fill Out His Questionnaire, Likes Life In Barracks.

(By United Press)

EL PASO, Tex.—Eldon Gerald Smith, a Colorado rancher who defied the draft and then enlisted, said today that he had won a moral victory. He had proved that government red tape is not sacred.

Smith, "the stubbornest man" with whom officials said they ever had to deal, was spending his first week in the army pushing a mop at the Fort Bliss reception center where he arrived Friday.

Smith, who is 31 and red-haired, had refused to fill out his questionnaire. He told the Egale county draft board that, as much as he favored the draft and the defense program, it was none of the board's business how much money he earned. The board's pleadings and those of government attorneys failed to budge his solid defiance.

He was indicted for violating the selective service act and faced conviction when Attorney General Francis Biddle quashed the indictment on his promise to enlist. A federal reformatory sanity commission had found him not only sane but "highly intelligent."

"I've knocked around a lot and I've worked out my own philosophy," he said over his mop today. "I decided I would see if red tape is sacred. I thought the census questions last year were an invasion of private rights, but I answered them. Then came the draft questionnaire.

"The tone was overbearing and impertinent. It asked questions I thought the government had no right to ask.

"We talk a lot about personal liberties and the rights of individuals but if red tape is sacred, this country is no place for individuals and individualism is dying.

"I wasn't afraid of the penitentiary—I could live my own life in my mind at least. But I'm glad it turned out this way.

"I like the army and that $21 a month looks pretty good."

GERMAN GUNS THREATEN RED CAPITAL CITY

Vanguards of Nazi Troops Reported Fighting 65 Miles From Moscow.

the Germans hurling tanks and motorized infantry from one sector to another in an effort to find soft spots.

Red Star, the Russian army newspaper, said the Germans had been thrown back 10 miles in one sector, and other Soviet reports told of the death of 10,000 Nazis in three actions.

Dispatches to Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper, indicated Russian warplanes were now gaining superiority above the vast and chaotic battlefield after the Germans for a time seemed to be getting control of the skies. In the past few days "the situation has changed," the reports said.

Massed German air attacks so far have failed to disrupt the railway network feeding reserves and supplies to the front. Izvestia said, adding:

"Our transport is functioning without a hitch."

Military advices reaching London said the battle was intensifying in fury, and gave this sector-by-sector summary:

1: Orel (210 miles south of Moscow): "The Germans are attacking in great strength, but the Russians appear to be holding them at present."

2: Bryansk (210 miles southwest of Moscow): "The situation is obscure, although reports from Moscow indicate the Russians have the situation in hand."

3: On the Roslav-Moscow Axis: "The Germans appear to have advanced on a narrow front and in great strength. Their advanced units reached Mozhaisk but were ejected by the Russians and heavy fighting is continuing."

4: From the Valdai Hills: "The German drive toward Rzhev (140 miles northwest of Moscow) appears to be making some progress."

German front-line reports said Red forces trapped in the Vyazma sector were "nearly annihilated," that more than 350,000 prisoners had been taken in the Vyazma-Bryansk battles, and that Russians fleeing the Bryansk region had taken to forests and fields to dodge the attacks of Nazi dive-bombers.

Vyazma, an agricultural center of about 40,000 population 125 miles west of Moscow, changed hands as Orel and Bryansk had previously, wrecked by bombs, shells and fire.

Moscow observers described traffic upon the Moscow-Vyazma highway in a midway area as orderly, with military movements both to and from the front. Dispatches from the fighting zone declared the German attacks had been slowed.

A Soviet communique said 6,000 Germans were killed or wounded in one sector alone yesterday.

From other sources also came statistics on combat losses.

The British Broadcasting company, quoting "latest reports from the front," declared 160,000 Germans had been killed and 450,000 wounded in the 12-day offensive.

Germans asserted that vast battles of encirclement had led to the capture of almost 3,000,000 Russians so far in the war.

While major Russian interest centered on the battles before Moscow, the Soviet radio reported Red marines had landed successfully on the Gulf of Finland coast in the rear of German troops besieging Leningrad.

Berlin commentators, however, dismissed action in the Leningrad zone with declaration that the days of the northern Soviet forces were numbered

Britain maintained aerial pressure upon Germany, raiding western objectives of the reich overnight for the fourth consecutive night in an around-the-clock offensive intended to destroy factories and supply lines which bolster the Nazi drive against Russia.

German spokesmen acknowledged a small number of civilian casualties and said two night raiders were downed.

A few bombs were dropped upon Britain a London communique said, but caused only slight damage.

Report British Vessel Torpedoed.

OPORTO, Portugal—(U.P.)—The British steamer Avoceta, en route from Gibraltar to Britain, was reported today to have been torpedoed and 94 passengers and 71 crew men aboard were believed to have perished.

The Avoceta, 3,442 tons, was said to have been torpedoed several days ago. The passengers included a number of prominent British residents of Oporto.

Russians Assert Spearhead Smashed.

MOSCOW—(U.P.)—The Red army was reported in war dispatches today to have smashed back the German offensive spearhead 11 miles, to have blocked enemy drives on three fronts defending Moscow and to be inflicting tremendous casualties on Nazi panzer units on a fourth.

The most ferocious battles of the war were reported from the front lines where Russian reserves and civilian defense construction workers rushed into the battle to defend the Soviet capital.

"The road to Moscow must become the Fascist road to death," the famous Soviet novelist and war correspondent, Ilya Ehrenbourg, said in a dispatch to the Red Star in which he emphasized that the "great flow of American war supplies" was working in favor of Russia.

Ehrenbourg and other war correspondents reported isolated clashes in which they listed 16,000 Germans killed or wounded, 350 tanks and 1,000 other vehicles destroyed as a small part of the toll of battle in the last few days.

PRIME MINISTER ADMITS ANXIETY

Declines To Permit Debate In Parliament on War Situation In Russia.

This answer was greeted with many cries of "no."

Shinwell made one further effort, appealing to Churchill to permit debate of Lord Beaverbrook's recent statement on aid to Russia "so that the house can inform you of the anxiety that is felt."

The prime minister again refused.

Aneurin Bevan, Laborite, then took up the question, remarking that while the government refused to debate on Russia "it seems wise for the war cabinet to give gratuitous reassurances to the enemy that they will not be attacked anywhere."

(Editor's Note: This was a reference to a recent statement by authoritative British military circles to the effect that "Britain is not at present prepared to invade Europe.")

Bevan branded Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, as an "irresponsible person with a bad record" for a statement in similar vein. This aroused the prime minister.

"I am sorry to see Mr. Bevan go out of his way to abuse Lord Halifax, who is a man on a high mission outside this country," he said.

Bevan said he would appreciate an opportunity to establish his charge in early debate, but the speaker intervened and shut him off. Churchill appeared to have support of the majority of the house in his attitude.

British military authorities declared today that the gigantic battle on the central Russian front where Nazi legions are driving against Moscow is approaching its climax, adding the Germans are making an "utmost effort" to obtain a decision.

They said advices reaching London military quarters in the last few hours showed that the tremendous engagement, involving millions of men, has reached its peak and that the result soon may be known.

Pointing out the battle can end only in either the fall of Moscow, frustration of the Nazi attack and defeat of the attacking forces, an authoritative military spokesman refused to elaborte upon or even to indicate how the British regard the probable outcome.

Italians Tell of New Sea Battle

ROME—(U.P.)—The Italian high command said today that another Italian-British air and naval battle had occurred in the eastern Mediterranean with Italian torpedo-carrying planes attacking a British naval formation.

The British formation which the Italian planes attacked included two battleships, cruisers and a number of destroyers, the communique said bombers could set the whole island in one night, because Japanese cities are built of wood and are just so much tinder."

Norris made these observations to newsmen as a senate appropriations subcommittee started closed hearings on the house-approved $5,985,000,000 additional lease-lend appropriation, part of which may be used to help Russia.

President Roosevelt in a statement yesterday said large amounts of supplies already were en route to Russia and that munitions promised the Soviet for October delivery—including tanks, planes and trucks—would be sent to the U. S. S. R., before the end of the month.

Military supplies for Russia are leaving American ports constantly, the chief executive said, and personnel in the army and maritime commission worked over last week-end to rush supplies for the Soviet to the seaboard.

Mr. Roosevelt added that everything possible is being done to send equipment to Russia and thus aid "in the brave defense which continues to be made."

Congressional leaders who conferred with Mr. Roosevelt and other administration officials yesterday regarding the lease-lend bill reported that Harry Hopkins, the lease-lend supervisor, predicted that Russia would keep up a fight against Germany even if the Nazis took Moscow.

Hopkins, who conferred recently with Joseph Stalin and other high Russian officials, was said to believe that the Soviet would be able to maintain effective resistance even if it were necessary for the government to establish a temporary capital east of Moscow.

ORCHESTRA LEADER COOLS HEELS IN DETROIT 'MUSICAL DISCORD'

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT—Bruno Walter cooled his heels in his hotel suite today, a guest conductor with a baton but no orchestra.

When Walter, here to conduct the Detroit Symphony orchestra in its opening concert of the season Thursday night, arrived at Masonic temple yesterday for the first rehearsal, he was greeted by a lone bass fiddler.

Eighty others in the orchestra had staged a walkout.

While Walter sought an explanation the orchestra members met and vowed there would be no more rehearsals unless the 21-week symphony season was extended.

Said Orchestra Manager Murray G. Paterson, "it might be described as a musical discord."

Paterson, who declared an extension of the season was financially impossible, took a hopeful view of the situation.

"I'm sure the matter soon will be adjusted," he said.

But to Dr. Fred T. Murphy, president of the Detroit symphony society, the orchestra's action "may well mean the end of the Detroit symphony."

Both sides were cautious not to call the dispute a strike inasmuch as contracts with members of the orchestra have not yet been signed.

AUTO LOOTERS IN CITY AGAIN

Police Chief Blames Cleveland Gang For Series of Tire and Wheel Thefts.

difficulty in catching the thieves lies mostly in the fact that they operate only a few days before moving to another town.

The chief pointed out that motorists could help prevent the thefts by keeping their autos locked and by parking them in well-lighted places. These precautions will make it harder for the thieves to operate, he said, because it necessitates greater time for the robbery at a greater risk.

Bates said he believes that the group engaged in stealing accessories in the city at present is the same which committed 18 thefts and obtained $453 worth of articles in April.

Police records show that 69 auto accessory thefts have been committed since the first of the year with a total loss of more than $2,225.

was rejected. Approximately 215 persons are employed on WPA projects in the county at present with 85 awaiting assignment.

The WPA housekeeping aid project workers cared for 73 families including 165 persons, spent 450 hours in training and 2,480 in the homes of indigent families. Thirty persons were employed during the month.

Food stamps were distributed to 364 cases in the amount of $6,301.50. The stamps were given to persons cared for by the aid for aged, aid to dependent children, farm security, needy blind, WPA, poor relief, soldiers and sailors relief and composite cases.

The WPA sewing project employed 15 persons and turned out 423 garments at a cost of $87.50 during the month. The workers produced 168 women's garments, 12 boys' garments, 48 girls' garments, and 195 household garments.

NAZIS DISSOLVE SPORTS SOCIETY

Claim Sokol Interested In Fight Against Germans.

BERLIN — (AP) — Dissolution of Sokol, the great Czech national sport organization, has been ordered by the new reich's protector for the Bohemia-Moravia protectorate, Gen. Heinrich Heydrich, it was announced here today.

The move was announced by the authoritative news service Dienst Aus Deutschland.

Dienst asserted that the sport organization, which has branches in many parts of the world, had been more concerned with opposing Germany than with developing the bodies of its members.

OUSTS PUBLIC FROM SESSIONS

Senate Committee In Secret Hearing on Neutrality Act Changes.

Vorys replied that he wanted to be heard publicly.

"The chairman has made a stump speech here," the Ohioan said, "and I don't want a star chamber session."

He referred to a statement Bloom had made at the opening criticizing unidentified minority members for saying they had submitted lists of witnesses they desired to be heard.

Johnson arose and told Vorys that "we're going to do things in a decent way here if I have anything to say about it."

After Bloom had gavelled the committee into silence, the committee voted 10 to 6, with one voting "present," to go into executive session. At that point, Rep. Mundt (R-SD) got up and tried to make a statement.

"You sit down, Mr. Mundt," yelled Bloom, pounding his gavel again.

Bloom then ordered the room cleared and announced that the open session would be resumed as soon as the question of the record was settled.

Seeking to end the hearings on proposed revision of the neutrality act by nightfall, the committee allotted the anti-revisionists as much time as sponsors of the change received yesterday, when three cabinet members testified there was a compelling reason for the modification.

Even now the navy was reported to have sufficient anti-aircraft guns for the immediate needs of American merchantmen.

Spurred by the testimony of Secretaries Hull, Stimson and Knox that removal of the ban was imperative, Chairman Bloom declared the committee would not permit any extension of the hearing.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, who was the administration's final witness yesterday, told the committee that an important reason for arming merchant ships was to give them some defense against air attack.

FEARS DISGRACE

Youth, Sentenced To Reformatory, Takes Own Life.

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Fearful he would disgrace his family if he was sent to a reformatory on a burglary charge, Steve Bohach, 18, one of seven youths held in connection with a series of burglaries, hanged himself with a bed sheet in a hospital ward room at Central police station, police reported today.

CHANGES PLEA; 36 ON TRIAL

Statement By Defendant Heard In Cemetery Fraud Case.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—A plea of nolle contendere by one defendant today reduced to 36 the number of men on trial in federal court on charges of fraud and conspiracy in the Forest Glen Cemeteries, incorporated, developments.

Ray Freshner, Lakeview, one of the indicted salesmen, withdrew his earlier plea of innocent and entered a nolle contendere plea—that he will not offer a defense.

So far three witnesses have taken the stand. The government will call 200.

GAS FRANCHISE EXPIRES SOON

Rates at Shelby Continued Until Council Passes New Ordinance.

SHELBY—The gas franchise that the Ohio Fuel Gas company has with the city of Shelby expires on Oct. 19, city officials disclosed today.

The franchise will continue in effect until a new one is approved by the city council here, officials pointed out.

Under the present gas contract, Shelby gas consumers pay 20 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 500 cubic feet; 5½ cents per 100 cu. ft. for next 9,500 cu. ft. and 5 cents per 100 cu. ft. for all in excess of 10,000 cu ft. The minimum charge is $1.

The three-year contract was approved by city council after a debate extending over a period of a number of months, on Sept. 19, 1938. The contract held by the city before that was a "sandbag" five-year step-up rate.

City officials have said that they planned to wait for the gas company officials to approach them with a new rate as they believed the present rate to be reasonable for gas consumers here.

Gas officials, who are expected to ask for an increase in rates, have not offered a contract as yet. Gas officials here said that they had not been informed by the Columbus office what kind of a rate would be offered Shelby this year. All rates come out of the main office of the Ohio Fuel Gas company in Columbus.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1941.

Just to keep the record clear—election will be three weeks from today.

Modernizing an earlier definition—when a man robs a slot machine, THAT'S news.

Word is being passed around that there is a shortage of coat-hangers—but more likely it will turn out to be unintentional hoarding.

Mansfield Again 'Above Average'

MANSFIELD'S "above average" record gains additional prominence in the survey that shows per capita purchases in Mansfield stores in 1940 to have been well above the national average.

While statistics may not make interesting reading, it doesn't require many figures to explain that a per capita average of $579 in purchases made in Mansfield stores last year—to the total of $21,525,000—means "good business."

When it is considered that the national average in store purchases was $344 per person, the greater buying power of residents of this city and vicinity becomes quite apparent.

This reflects the steadiness and extent of industrial employment in Mansfield during the year and also discloses the manner in which store employment keeps pace with retail sales, with average annual earnings of local store employes placed at $1,005 as compared with the national average of $727 for similar employment.

A report of this kind also gives emphasis to the advantages of patronizing home merchants, as primary industrial payrolls are thus passed into many local channels as secondary payrolls, each of which is a direct benefit to the city—as, for instance, the $2,308,000 paid out last year to workers in Mansfield stores.

Civilians Also Need Health

ONE BENEFIT of the selective service system of choosing trainees is the revelation of a high percentage of physical and mental ailments among the registrants.

It was recently stated by President Roosevelt that 900,000, or almost 50 per cent of the registrants who had been examined, were rejected because they did not reach requirements for military service.

The president expressed hope that the federal government, through a "salvage" program, would be able to rehabilitate 200,000 of the rejected youths, 20 per cent of the rejections having been because of bad teeth. One hundred thousand were rejected because they lacked the equivalent of a fourth grade education.

While emphasis is now being placed on qualifications for military service, the showing made in the 21 to 35 age bracket of registrants hints at the cause of much individual inefficiency in civilian occupations.

The same physical and mental weaknesses which bar young men from military service can scarcely fail to have a retarding effect in any line of work in which they choose to engage as well as to prevent full enjoyment of life.

In the matter of rejected registrants it is proposed to have treatment given and minor defects corrected by family physicians rather than army doctors, which seems wise procedure.

Giving medical and dental attention to this group of 200,000 young men is a small task, however, as compared with the problem of elevating the health standards of the entire nation—which will require co-operation of states, counties, cities, townships, families and individuals.

Most logical starting places for a long-range program of health betterment are homes and schools.

Time To Make Needed Repairs

DESPITE the apparent scarcity of workers in the building trades in this area, needed repairs and replacements in homes should not be neglected—nor delayed any longer than is necessary to find a contractor or workmen who have time for the job.

Small repairs and replacements made when their need first appears save many dollars in the swift depreciation which is sure to ensue if they are neglected. An expert suggests several points which should be looked to before the onslaught of the winds and rains of winter make it harder to take care of them.

Chimney flashings should be tight. Caulk if necessary.

Gutters and downspouts should be cleaned and perhaps painted.

Some painters prefer to work in the autumn when there are fewer bugs to encrust themselves in the finished work. Others prefer spring. But bad spots should be gone over now for protection. A coat on the porch floor is a fine idea. Wet feet tramping up to the door are hard on the surface.

Windows should have a thin coat of white lead and oil or housepaint over old putty, making sure all joints are sealed. Window sills can now be painted to good advantage, scraping off the old paint first.

If you need storm windows, order them soon. They cut heating costs.

See that there's a grade in soil of about one in nine to make water run away from the house instead of standing against basement walls. Repair cracks in concrete drives and walks.

Hitler Takes On Deity Role

NEWS coming out of Germany indicates that a new state religion is in the making. Not merely the Jews, but Catholics and Protestants are being persecuted. A new birth of paganism, under the auspices of Alfred Rosenberg, is in process. Now the admiration for Hitler has approached the point of turning him into a god.

There is nothing new in this. The Roman emperors were regularly worshipped as gods. Christians were persecuted not so much because of their religion and its teachings as because they refused to worship the emperor. In Japan, as all know, the mikado is treated as a god. A dispatch lately came out of China, announcing a heavy fine levied on a Chinese newspaper for stating that the mikado was interested in botany. Anyone interested in botany, the Japanese argued, must be human, and it is blasphemous to think of the mikado as a human being.

If much honor is given to a god, much is also expected from him. The higher Hitler is lifted above ordinary men, the harder will be his fall when things go wrong. Savages have been known to throw their gods into the river for not granting their wishes.

SOMETHING LIKE THIS MAY WAKE US UP

U. S. Attitude Toward Russia

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON— Maybe President Roosevelt really believes what he inferred to the country about religious tolerance in Russia. It is conceivable, but a little hard to take. Conceivable because the president has extraordinary faculty of convincing himself that what he wants to believe is true, and what he does not want to believe is false.

What some sharp critics of the president are saying is that he always has been sympathetic to the Reds, and, seeing what a handicap the attitude of the Stalin government toward religion has been to so many people in this country, he is now trying to remove that handicap.

In short these critics believe the president agrees with the Communists on economic questions, and believes he can persuade Premier Stalin and his lieutenants to come around on the religious question. Certainly Stalin sees that this is necessary, at least temporarily, because he has made some extraordinary concessions to various churches, including the Hebrew, in the last few weeks.

The same critics, of course, believe this is more expediency—a policy to be abandoned when it no longer serves the purpose of keeping America sympathetic so long as America is called on to furnish war supplies for the Russian army.

THIS writer does not believe that the view of the critics just stated is an accurate picture of FDR's mind. It may be correct, and it also may be correct that the president really believes, having convinced himself, that the Soviet doctrine is one of religious toleration.

But it seems to the writer that both assumptions are a little out of character when we look at the known facts about what Mr. Roosevelt has said and done in all these years we have been watching him and listening to him.

There is an old saying that politics makes strange bedfellows. This is even more accurate with respect to war. When one is fighting for his life, and someone comes to fight by his side, there is no place for concern about the motives of the ally, his past performances or whether one thinks he has poor taste in architecture. He is there, for the time being, and one is very glad he is there. One hopes that he will land some good socks on the common enemy's nose.

OF THE 60 to 80 per cent (at least) of our people who want to see Adolf Hitler smashed, a very large majority, perhaps more than 90 per cent, feel just that way about Russia's part in this war. These persons, who, it is conceded, are a majority of all the people in the United States, like hardly anything about Russia. They don't like communist economics; they don't like communist attempts to spread their doctrines in other countries, including the United States, and they don't like the Soviet's attitude toward religion.

But all of them are delighted every time they hear that the Red army has taken terrific toll of Hitler's forces in a strategic retreat. Especially in a retreat! Some of them, despite their desire to see Hitler smashed, would be a little disturbed if the Red Army had captured Berlin and was now advancing on Hamburg!

But that last is an after-the-war worry. The present concern is to see Hitler bled white, so more power to the Russians!

However, Mr. Roosevelt is so constituted, that, even if this were a precise statement of his views, he would have to sugar coat the medicine a bit. Our allies MUST be grand and noble. Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that he thinks it is necessary for our people to think so.

Stamp Them Out!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHEW! 'Scuse me if I mop a beaded brow and a scorched eyelash. We've been fire-fighting up here on the ranch—and 400 acres of mountain blaze is no beauty treatment, in any man's language.

Chances are, some simple-minded tenderfoot started it. Deer season's on and these city Tarzans flit around strewing cigarette butts and camp-fire cinders promiscuously. So, by 2:30 a. m. next week, maybe you'll have a home . . . or maybe you won't.

Treacherous things, those pin points of flame. They'll work their way for hours, sometimes days, through the tangled brush or thick, gummy carpet of pine needles before they're discovered. Then some chance breeze will fan them, and there's the devil to pay! This last shindy wiped out 30,000 acres of fine winter feeding—and most of Jim Blain's herd—before the boys could stop it. All because some one FORGOT TO STOMP OUT HIS ASHES WHEN HE BROKE CAMP!

Leaving live ashes, that's practically grounds for a necktie party in cattle country. Yet perhaps one shouldn't blame the tenderfoot too much. For the wisest of us are apt to do the same, with infinitely greater damage. We may not start our mischief with smoldering ashes or cigar butts. But there's more than one way of raising hell!

Spite, f'instance. Spite can smolder as long as any cinder and leave far cruler wreckage in its wake. Remember that stupid spat you had last spring with the neighbor across the hall? You were ashamed of it before the words were out of your mouth. Took her a jar of your best jam the next morning, and thought the thing settled. But it wasn't.

Beneath that seeming composure a spark of bitterness was left. Inwardly, each one of you felt the other had been unfair . . . and the thought rankled. Rankled and grew . . . spreading secretly. . . . gnawing deeper . . . piling up a grudge . . . until one day it broke loose into open fury. Today you're not speaking, and a score of friends and old cronies are lined up, taking sides on the feud.

ALL BECAUSE YOU DIDN'T STAMP OUT THE ASHES OF A TRIVIAL QUARREL!

Spite's just one of the dangers you have to watch. Fear . . . self-pity . . . remorse . . . they all leave live coals in their wake. You make a mistake, could kick yourself for being such a fool. In time you live it down, or think you have. But the spark burns on . . . eating into your self-respect . . . destroying your courage and confidence. Some day you'll face another test and you'll discover, to your dismay, how far the damage has gone.

Grief-aching is the loss of someone dearly loved. It's just another "secret saboteur." For you're so sure you are "taking it normally . . . acting sensibly." Yet unknown, unseen, bit by bit, your morale is being destroyed.

ALL BECAUSE YOU FAILED TO MAKE A CLEAN BREAK WITH SORROW . . . FORGOT TO STAMP OUT THE ASHES WHEN YOU MOVED ALONG.

Stop it! Stop being a tenderfoot! No one can escape unpleasant experiences. But anyone with a smitch of sense can learn how to stamp out his ashes, mop up his hidden sparks!

So go to it! Rub out the cinders of your old mistakes . . . your old sorrows and regrets, grudges and fears! Rub them out clean! And then! . . . GO ON!

Nazi 'Pirates' and Raiding Craft May Be Landed In U. S. Port Soon

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Don't be surprised if a U. S. warship disembarks a load of Nazi sailors and turns them over to the justice department to be tried on charges of "piracy."

It is even possible that in the "haul" may be an armed Nazi raider or two that had been operating down Brazil way.

Anything may happen these eventful days since the president enunciated U. S. determination to maintain freedom of the seas, and branded Nazi submarines and surface raiders in American waters at "pirates." Armed Nazi ships are prowling American waters and the U. S. navy has its orders.

It can be revealed that neither the justice nor war department would be surprised if they had some "pirate" seamen and "pirate" craft to deal with soon. Both have been quietly studying for a week the law precedents concerning such an eventuality.

The war department enters the picture because under the law all war prisoners landed on U. S. soil come under the custody of the army. However, the U. S. is not at war, so there is doubt over the army's jurisdiction.

No final decision has been reached, but the consensus of the legal experts is that any such "pirates" should be turned over to the justice department.

One suggested procedure is that the Nazis be landed at a U. S. port and then jailed by the justice department as aliens without passports. But most of the legal authorities contend that the Nazis should be dealt with squarely as buccaneers.

A highly significant feature of these undercover deliberations is that the justice and war department were directed to make their legal studies quickly.

Note—Last week an important war department official suggested to a navy official that the navy give the army advance notice of any captives that might have to be taken over. The instant reply was. "Hell, we already have some." But when pressed for details, the navy man shut up.

Ducal CCC Visit.

ON HIS return trip to Washington the Duke of Windsor plans to visit a nearby CCC camp with the idea of establishing a similar one in the Bahamas. The camp selected for his visit will probably be one of the negro units, as the Bahamas population is largely negro.

J. J. McEntee, CCC director, was impressed with the duke's keen interest when they discussed the CCC in Washington last month. The duke said he regarded the CCC as an ideal means of accomplishing two social purposes—to get public work done and to give employment to boys.

One thing Windsor was particularly interested in was the origin of the CCC and he asked who originated it. The answer was, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Nazi Spuds.

ALTHOUGH Intelligence experts have stopped making guesses on when Germany would run short of raw materials they have just pieced together some illuminating information concerning the German potato supply.

Several weeks ago Berlin cables reported an unofficial forecast on this year's crop at 65,000,000 metric tons. This is about 5,000,000 tons below the record 1940 crop of 70,000,000. That is not so bad, except that these figures, plus others now in the hands of authorities on German potato consumption reveals a situation not disclosed in cable dispatches.

For example: The effectiveness of the British blockade in shutting off food imports to Germany has forced the population to depend more and more on potatoes. So much so that potato consumption has risen 75 per cent in the past year.

Further, the consumption increase has taken place in cities distant from potato-growing areas. That means they have to be hauled from over German railroads and trucklines, already heavily burdened with troop and munitions traffic. Intelligence experts therefore anticipate that the Nazis soon may be faced with the question of whether to haul potatoes to the cities or munitions to the eastern front.

Franked Stone.

MANY a dull speech and many a heavy tome have been sent out from Washington, postage free, under the congressional frank. But the all-time record for weight was broken by isolationist Senator Gerald W. Nye when, under his congressional frank, he mailed a stone.

The present Mrs. Nye comes from Iowa Falls, Ia., and a zealous lady of a Methodist church there has been put in charge of making a collection of stones—one from each state and colonial possession of the United States—for the construction of a fireplace in the church.

So she wrote to Senator Nye and asked if he would contribute a stone from his state of North Dakota. In due time it came—a nice big boulder, postage free, under Nye's senatorial frank.

Merry-Go-Round.

IN A direct membership election, the American Newspaper Guild has overwhelmingly defeated the leftist clique which for several years has controlled the national offices of the union. The entire group was cleaned out and a militant anti-Red slate elected . . . The isolationists aren't the only ones fighting the lifting of the ban on arming U. S. merchant ships. Three big steamship companies, United Fruit, Grace Lines and Moore - McCormack, behind the scenes also are opposing this move. They are passing around the word that they are against arming their vessels except in the event of war. The companies claim mounting guns on their ships will be bad for their profitable tourist business . . . Flash! "Doc" Townsend, mogul of the old-age pension movement, has revised his $200 a month scheme. In the "Townsend Weekly" he announced that under the "scientifically-balanced" Townsend plan "the pension would begin at around $50 a month and increase as national recovery was brought about" . . . Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I know that open air cafes and gawdy awnings and leafy parks are arresting to the eye, but these come in summer, and summer is only New York's second best season of the year.

The first best begins now and will continue until after New Year's. The First best is October and November and Christmas. Why? Because the nights are nippy and the mornings are clear as a glass of cold water. Because the theater has shaken off its siesta. Because of football and Thanksgiving and Halloween and the southward migration of the wild fowl.

THE time to enjoy a play best is when you walk through snow to get there. New York's theaters are cozy and small, and that is well. Drama in roomy houses would be sad. For the living acting of living people you must have intimacy. Put any Broadway drama in Music Hall, with its acres of seats, and it would be lost. It would be bizarre, unreal, out of focus. Why is this? Don't ask me. Perhaps because the movies have educated people into taking their kisses in close-ups, which means heads 24 times their normal size. A boy could kiss a girl in Music Hall, and for all the people in the balcony would know, he might only be asking her to lend him a quarter.

I will admit that in January winter begins to pall. You have a long bleak period of about five months there until May. The cold becomes a bore and the snow a dreary spectacle.

But I'm talking about now. Right now. And on through the holidays. One of those nights will be the Saturday night of the Army-Notre Dame football game. That is always one of the busiest and wildest nights of the year, maybe one of the two wildest. New Year's eve is always the top night. The Irish and the Cadets make the evening after the game a close second.

WINTER on the windy street corners of New York has the added inducements of roasted chestnuts. The chestnut vendors have been written about so much that they are passe. This is a pity. They are truly indigenous to New York. They look alike, they dress alike, they have the same bleak, thin-nosed haunted appearance. They push little black-sooted ovens around and they do a thriving trade in hot roasted chestnuts. Even if you do not like chestnuts, the sensible thing is to buy two bags and put one in each coat pocket. They keep your hands warm for hours.

And so I for one welcome the season of the turning leaf and the fairy snowflake.

I will be catching fish on an inland lake that is half a mile above the sea.

I WILL be standing in theater foyers beating the thin dusty snow out of my coat collar, and listening to the crowd.

I will be running for commuters' trains, and cursing a little when I slip on the ice, and loving it for awhile—until January anyway.

After January, I may have something else to say.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Watch Your Mind.

Mind has bad habits, too, and if
You let it, it will go
To seed, be slothful, take the light
And easy way, and know.

But little that is serious,
Of true importance. Mind
Can quickly fall in lazy ways
And careless ones, I find.

Mind must be made to lift itself
To heights of thinking's best,
And not let down with fripperies
Or too much idle rest.

A Farmer's Diary

A Good Rain

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WAS in the cornfield when the rain began, and I heard the laughing spatter of the first drops upon the crisp dry blades. All over the field it was as if a sigh of content went up. Each stalk of corn seemed to stretch a little taller, each yellow ear protruding from its husk, seemed to bow in thankful obeisance.

I went to the barn and stood in the big shed door, to watch. The wind was as warm as May. It roared through the maples at the edge of the lawn, sending showers of dry leaves fluttering down. Beyond, across the line of hills, I saw the thick white veil of rain blot out, one by one, the trees that marked the tops of slopes, and knew that with every valley crossed, the heavy shower drew nearer.

I looked up at the barn roof from inside, gratified to find that the recent job of painting .d repair had left it without those sieve-like spots of light which have been there all summer. How fine those pattering raindrops sounded now that the roof on which they fell no longer leaked!

Then with a roar, the shower had arrived. Whirling skeins of rain moved along the gravel road, casting up warm spray. The odor of thirstily drinking grass-roots came to me. The breath of the haymow mingled in my nostrils with the indescribably satisfying smell of soaking earth.

When it had subsided a little, I walked across the lawn to our cottage door. Beneath the low roof of our little porch I stopped to look at the autumn coloring on the slope above . . . the sumacs vivid red, the bright goldenrod at the edge of the bank, the patch of smoky blue asters at one corner. These were a background for the dripping apple tree, its aged, rotund bole wet and darkly shining between the patches of gray-green lichens. On the ground about its foot, the fruit from the high old top lay wet and golden in the grass.

High on the slope, as the shower slackened to a mere misty hint of its former power, I heard the sweet, high call of a lark, buoyant as in springtime, I went happily into the kitchen where my wife was canning tomatoes. Rows of red-filled jars stood in the corner cupboard; a brown basket of red and green mangoes stood on a table; the odors of fruit and spice mingled pleasantly.

I won't tell what I did, for she called me foolish. But isn't it wonderful how a good rain after a long dry spell affects a fellow?

HOPEFUL

Southern Planters Expect Cotton To Come Back.

ATHENS, Ga.—(U.P.)—Southern cotton planters, faced with the problem of fading foreign markets, are looking with renewed hope to federal efforts to uncover new uses for the crop which has long been the economic problem of the Southland.

Cotton in airport runways, in high-grade writing paper, in curing concrete roads, as a reinforcing substance for the sides and bottoms of irrigation ditches and canals, and as a cover for beehives. Those are practical commercial uses of which cotton is receiving wide acceptance.

Far-sighted farmers realize that the present upsurge in domestic consumption of their crop is motivated by the current defense requirements, and that the security of future markets depends directly upon the success of experiments and research now being conducted by federal and state departments.

Fictional Love Plot Comes True

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

In a world destroying itself with hate and wondering blindly how it's all going to end, the following letter is interesting. It comes from a young man who unblushingly signs himself "Reformed."

In a dismally sophisticated world such as we are living in today, the young man's love story might be the same that used to delight our grandparents. But here again it is cropping up in real life. Today when we know more about "paying the piper" for our past sins, we wonder how this old-fashioned love story is going to turn out for the girl, even if she marries the reformed rake.

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"At 33 I should have been glad to be drafted and sent to an army post. It seemed to me I had tried about everything else in life, but I wasn't quite up to par physically. I had been fairly successful owing to a gift of getting along with people. My work with a big construction concern and my ability to handle sometimes as many as 500 men had given me a good salary.

"I wasn't a girl hater—far from it. I liked the company of the gay ones. Into our office force came a charming girl, very pretty and clever. With her I followed the usual procedure, invited her to dinner and the theater

"She surprised me by refusing I repeated the invitation three times, but always got no for my answer. When I asked her why, she said: 'You're just not my type.' It was my first rebuff and that started me to thinking. My amazement grew when I discovered she went out with other men in the office whose positions were several notches below mine. I learned the girl had found out about some of my Cain-raising parties. And while she was no prunes-and-prissy miss, she didn't like that sort of thing.

"During the noon hour one day I caught her sitting with a group of office girls who were all smoking. She wasn't. I said. 'I'm glad to know you're human enough to associate with smokers.' She said: 'Why not. I don't disapprove, but I just don't enjoy it.'

"I got up a moonlight picnic for the office force, and she surprised me by accepting. I used the old jibe in reverse and said: 'This is so sudden, but I'm in love with you, will you marry me?' She laughed heartily and replied: 'Certainly not. I hardly know you, and what I do know doesn't recommend you.'

"That was six months ago. I'm still on a sort of probation and happier in that state than I've ever been before in my life Of course I'm knee-deep in the office grins, but do I care? Not I.

Reformed."

A man who has been successful in his work and formerly rather prided himself on raising Cain, suddenly encounters a sweet girl, and all at once becomes the humblest of the humble. This is old stuff I know. The old story of the rake falling in love with innocence. Such marriages turn out better for the rake usually than for the girl, whose life is like a white page on which nothing has been written. What do you who read this column think of their chances of happiness?

PLAN PARTY.

Members of the Young Married Peoples' class of the First Brethren church held a wiener roast recently at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. James Garver, near Hemlock Falls. Plans were made to hold a Halloween party, Nov. 1 at the John's park pavilion. The evening was spent socially.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"THAT'S ALL I want to know," I told Miss Whitlock. "Now if you'll help me wrap these things up again, and check my memory on how they were wrapped, I'll insert the package in the hem and leave the sewing to you."

"I trust you won't regret your decision," she said, then added competently, "but I don't think you will."

"I know I shan't," I said. Then she came to my side as I spread out the letter and the envelope Lillian had steamed upen. and folded them again in the creases my poor friend had made when she folded them into the long, slender ruler-like package which I had found in the hem of the robe.

I noted every crease Lillian had made, and when I had put the slender package into the thin muslin cloth Lillian had used for wrapping it, and had tightly folded the cloth around it, I held the completed package out to the nurse with a feeling of triumph.

Package Fool Proof.

"I don't believe she ever will know that it has been out of the hem," I said to the nurse.

She had been watching me intently, and now gave the package a last appraising glance.

"Not unless I fall down on the hemming," she said. "This package is fool proof."

"You won't fall down," I said with conviction as I picked up Lillian's quilted robe.

"I don't intend to," she said quietly. Then taking the hem of the robe in both hands she spread it out, holding it formly at either side of the opening from which I had taken the ruler-like package.

"Will this help?" she asked, and I nodded gratefully, as I slid the muslin-wrapped letter and envelope into the opening.

I gave my handiwork one last searching glance, then, grasping the robe firmly where Miss Whatlock's hands were clutching it, I spoke quickly.

"If you'll just sit down in that sewing chair by the table," I said "I'll put this robe in your lap. The needles and thread are right beside you, as you very well know—you put them there, yourself."

I saw her hand go out swiftly toward my work basket and the threaded needles she had put into it, but I did not wait to see her begin work. All my faculties were focused upon my own especial problem, as I turned toward the writing desk.

I uttered a mental anathema at my own stupidity then I had reached it. My memory had functioned upon the big things and betrayed me upon a trivial point. I turned back to the nurse with an apology.

"I am so sorry to trouble you," I said. "I should have asked you this before you sat down. But I must have the copies you made of the letter and envelope. I asked you to lock them up in your bag, I believe."

"I put them there as soon as you left the room," she said. "And you are not disturbing me at all. My purse is there in the open desk. If you will open the purse on the side which has the small flap, you will see among the other junk a key case. The smallest key in it unlocks my bag—a black one which stands in the front of the closet near you. The envelope and the letter in it. are on top of everything else. You can't miss them."

Dire Message From Marion.

I noted with approval that she was not looking at me as she talked, but kept her eyes on the stitching of the hem. I was needlewoman enough to know that she was doing a most clever job, not trying to show how good a seamstress she was, but slavishly imitating Lilliam's stitches.

I followed her directions, took out the letter in its envelope and locked the bag again, returning the key to her purse.

Then I sat down before the desk, spreading out my copy of the letter, and my eyes went at once to the sentence, almost half way down the page, which must have seared Lillian's soul.

"I am going to be married, Mummy, and I want you to be there."

Train Child In Normal Sleep Habits

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

You and I know that as we come in contact with the beautiful in art, music and literature; that as we mingle more with others of high taste in these respects; as we go more often to art museums, symphonies and operas, witness good dramas and read good literature, our taste is cultivated to want more of like quality. However, good taste may have been pretty well-established for some of us during our earlier years.

What are we parents doing to cultivate good taste in our growing children?

You say the school is doing much. It is. At school the child may learn something about the beautiful in art, music and literature. But out of school, alas, his taste is seldom cultivated on a very high level.

Start In Early Years.

However, a few wise parents acquaint their children during their very early years, from infancy indeed, with the beautiful. The baby hears snatches from the masterpieces of music even before he can toddle, and during his pre-school years may be given selected records to provide himself good music. His mother's voice, in speech or lullaby, has always been soft and low. She has repeated nursery rhymes to him and read to him from verse and prose, including folklore and fairy tales.

Some local civic groups have developed the children's theater so that youngsters may know the high levels of the dramatic arts. The high water mark in efforts to cultivate good musical and dramatic taste in children from 6 to 12 has been attained through the contributions of Junior Programs, Inc., a non-profit enterprise—the only non-profit organization, I understand, bringing fine music to children in hundreds of communities. Recently it celebrated its 1750th performance.

Offer Only the Best.

It was my privilege to witness an abbreviated opera, "Jack and the Beanstalk," presented by a Junior Programs cast before the recent convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at Boston. It was superb.

President Virginia Kletzer in presenting Dorothy McFadden, President and Founder of Junior Programs, said, "Mrs. McFadden believes that any performance by adults for children should be the very best."

Next fall a new musical drama, "The Adventures of Marco Polo," will take to the road, with actors, dancers, singers and stage managers driving their truck and car from the Atlantic to the Pacific and back, from Canada to Texas. Each day they will stop in a different town, set up their scenery and lighting in some school or community auditorium, and play to children ready and eager for their next Junior Programs show.

These fortunate children see drama, suspense, excitement; yes, but in right doses planned for their good. There is color and design, but it is created by talented artists with an eye for beauty, not for startling effect. There is music, tuneful and rhythmical, but worth hearing and remembering. There is dancing, but not within the narrow limits of tap and jitterbug—dancing that opens up new vistas of lovely movement to young eyes and bodies.

We parents are grateful for the standards set and the taste for the beautiful cultivated in our growing children by such a service as that of the Junior Programs.

Solving Parent Problems.

Q. My child of three, when I have him sit on the chair for punishment, keeps asking me when he may get down. This wears me out.

A. Have a clock where he can see it. Show him exactly where the hand of the clock will be when the time is up and have him call you when it gets there. He will. Twenty minutes is a good long time, perhaps.

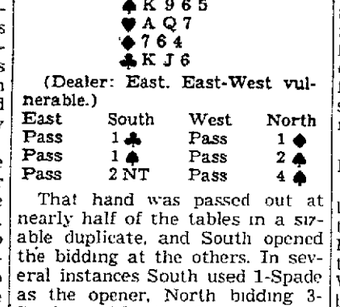
"The Authority on Authorities"

COUNT ABOVE AVERAGE

Players who value the high cards of their hands on the basis of various combinations, and who therefore rate an A-K, for instance, as much more valuable than an A and K of separate suits, are prone to under-rate some hands, especially those with a sprinkling of honors through three or four suits. On hands of this kind, which are close to the borderline between a pass and an opening bid, and with no particularly helpful suit lengths, it is well also to measure them by some other standard before making the decision.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	2 NT	Pass	4 ♠

That hand was passed out at nearly half of the tables in a sizable duplicate, and South opened the bidding at the others. In several instances South used 1-Spade as the opener, North bidding 3-Spades and South 4-Spades. In one case North raised only to 2-Spades, South bid 2-No Trumps, North 3-Diamonds and South 3-No Trumps.

Every South who opened the bidding at all saw his side make a game, either at No Trumps or Spades. Of course, where it was passed by South, the deal was passed out, and a game went a glimmering. The point therefore is that it paid South to open the bidding. Additionally, it could be stated that a pass by South was unprofitable — that is, unless North was prepared to bid on a hand as weak as his, to protect a possible pass of the size South made.

Here is a good way to judge hands of that type: Use the old 4, 3, 2, 1 count favored by the late Milton C. Work. Rating an A at 4, K at 3, Q at 2 and J at 1, an average hand counts 10. One which is a K above average totals 13. That is what the South hand of this deal counted, and it seldom will pay you to pass such a hand, even when it contains no suit longer than four cards.

Health Rules For Victims Of Acne

By MME. QUI VIVE

Fewer boys and girls suffer from skin eruptions than endured this dreadful affliction in the past. The reason: better eating habits and devotion to the daily bath. Medical men who specialize in treatment of the skin and scalp are seeking causes for cutaneous blemishes. Acne often proves stubborn; sometimes months of treatment have been necessary before the epidermis was cleared of blackheads and pimples. It is a long, long pull; the patient is likely to become discouraged. Acne, appearing in the teens, may flourish into the thirties. A distressing trouble that makes a boy or girl self-conscious and wretched

It is believed that some cases are due to wrong food and poor digestion, others to chronic constipation, that they are not simply a surface infection. That is why the doctor orders hygienic habits. The skin is not functioning in a normal manner. Sebaceous oil banks up in the pores and hardens. The delicate walls of the pores break. bacteria moves in, pimples result.

To stimulate the functions of the skin the hot bath is recommended. Fill the tub with water fairly hot, stay in it until the flesh is soft and pink. Scour the entire body with soap suds and a firm brush to remove dead skin scales. Finish with an alternating hot and cold shower.

Use a coarse towel vigorously. Follow with an alcohol rub.

Brisk friction is good for the body surface, not advisable for the facial area that is afflicted. Pimples are small boils—the less they are disturbed the better. When washing the face use a bland soap—shaving soaps are good—and fluff up a thick lather. Use the wash cloth first, then the fingers. Rinse the suds away. Dip a heavy wash cloth in hot water, give the flesh a good steaming to soften blackheads and to heal eruptions. Dry gently. Powder with boric acid or apply a soda solution made by dissolving a teaspoonful of baking soda in a cup of water. Put on the soda solution with a bit of cotton and let it dry

Unless there is a pronounced yellow head, pimples should not be opened. Use a sterilized needle, press gently, having the fingers covered with clean gauze.

Young girls put their faith in creams, which are not suitable. Drying agents are necessary; that is why soap is helpful. If the skin is excessively dry a thin film of ointment of zinc oxide can be put on at night after the face has been thoroughly washed.

Restriction of suagr and starches in the diet has been found of benefit. Too much candy and cake will not do for little Speckle Face. The diet should include orange and tomato juice and lettuce to supply vitamin C. It is vitally important to look after elimination as constipation aggravates many cases. Some doctors insist that the patient take two glasses of water before breakfast to increase the activity of the kidneys and intestinal tract.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, Oct. 15

A VERY enterprising and productive day may be shown with ambitious objectives attaining satisfactory culminations. This especially with new projects which should be attacked with vim and determination. Have an alert eye to treachery, fraud and misrepresentation in connection with writings, travel and all sorts of agencies.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a profitable and productive year, with large interests and new projects under highly stimulating astral influence. It may be a propitious time for launching new business of merit and ambition, with assured support of friendly financial and social interests. However there is need to guard against fraud.

A child born on this day should have much practical skill and initiative to attain advanced ambitions.

Tomorrow's Problem.

Gloria Returns.

Gloria Swanson, the film's glamor girl of several years back, stages a triumphant return to the screen in "Father Takes a Wife," opening Wednesday at the Ohio. The chic Gloria, in the role of a volatile stage star, has Adolphe Menjou as a leading man, and a supporting cast that includes Florence Rice John Howard and Helen Broderick. Dealing with the marriage of an actress to a shipping magnate the play revolves around the efforts of the magnate's son and the latter's wife to prevent scandal in connection with the wedding. Miss Rice and Howard portray the couple and Helen Broderick enacts a romantic maiden aunt.

Defense Thriller.

Waterfront Comedy.

Filmed in the center of California's tuna - fishing industry, "Barnacle Bill," the waterfront comedy starring Wallace Beery at the Ritz, tells the story of a fisherman roustabout and his motherless daughter played by Virginia Weidler. Teamed with Beery is Marjorie Main as the daughter of an aged ship chandler who has a soft place in her heart for the "no-account" who makes good. Leo Carrillo, Donald Meek and Barton MacLane are in the cast. Gene Autry's "Under Fiesta Skies," with Smiley Burnette and Carol Hughes is the co-attraction.

Gay Farce.

Franchot Tone as an austere young Wall Street executive takes off his spectacles and succumbs to the charms of a young night-club entertainer in the comedy at the Park, "She Knew All the Answers," co-starring Joan Bennett. John Hubbard is in the cast as the man Miss Bennett sets out to marry, and others include Eve Arden and William Tracy. "Citadel of Crime," the second picture, concerns the activities of a racketeering syndicate which takes over moonshine activities in West Virginia. Frank Albertson and Linda Hayes are in the cast.

GIRLS COMPOSE FORM LETTER TO SEND TO FRIENDS AT CAMP

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND—This business of writing each night to the boy friend in camp is relatively painless once you learn the system.

The system began when pretty 22-year-old brunet Miss Elizabeth Rohan, receptionist in a Cleveland radio station, remarked to four of her stenographic friends that writing a letter to the boy friend every night was becoming a bit of a job.

The other four, who also had boy friends in camp, agreed and decided to get together and do something about it.

During their spare moments they concocted a form letter which, in five minutes, by filling in the proper words and checkmarks, one could write a—"glad, happy, joyful, tearful, sad, raging, furious, disgruntled, or peeved" letter.

The letter starts out—"Dear, Dearest, Darling, My dearest darling." It talks about the trip to the —— and here the writer can select any local swimming beach or amusement center with comments on good, bad or indifferent times.

After discussion local sports, the letter asks how life is at Camp—, Ft—, Air Field—, or Naval base—

In all, the letter covers one solid typewritten page. The letters, Miss Rohan said, are available to any girl.

"They certainly save time," she coyly remarked, "and should a girl have to write to more than one camp she saves twice as much time."

She hurriedly pointed out, however, that it was best to send just one form to a camp.

This Dance Should Be A Lot Of Fun, If You Can Get In

A dance that will be a little hard to get to, but which ought to be fun if you can make it, has been arranged by the Friendly House for Oct. 24, officials of the settlement announced today.

In the first place, rough dress is required — not necessarily a masquerade costume, but not "soup and fish" either.

In the second place, you'll enter the gym—where the dance is to be held — by climbing a fire escape, squeezing through a window and sliding down a rope.

In the third place, you'll need a dime, a tenth of a dollar, as the price of admission.

The dance is open to anyone over the age of 12 who can meet those requirements, and the music will come from the settlement's own recording machine.

A mighty proud day in our lives

IT WAS ONE of the proudest days we'd ever known.

A few days ago, there was hoisted to its place beneath the Stars and Stripes at our plant in Jersey City, a new emblem. It is a simple blue pennant inscribed with a white "E"—"E", for excellence.

It is the highest service award the United States Navy can make . . . the Navy's way of saying "well done."

To Westinghouse, the Navy has given this coveted award for an outstanding job of turning out the tools of national defense—with speed, precision, and efficiency.

This Westinghouse plant, which during peace time manufactured the elevators for many of America's tallest buildings, for many weeks now has been turning out mounts for naval anti-aircraft guns at an ever-increasing rate.

This is but one of the jobs Westinghouse is doing for America's defense. In Westinghouse plants, there are 3600 others . . . $300,000,000 worth of vital defense equipment.

We're mighty proud of that new "E" pennant. It is a symbol of the determination of all of us at Westinghouse to do well the most important job in America today . . . help defend the flag that flies above it!

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—When I was a yearling in West Point we had a classmate who, in spite of immaturity, had the manner, dignity and ponderosity of a Roman senator. His intellectual equipment was just so-so but he made the most of it and, as we used to say, "got by on his shape."

Johnson

Through sheer memory of fingering, he could play one piece on the single piano that we had in old Dualetic hall but he could play that perfectly. He always took off his tunic, rolled back his cuffs and then looked about to assure perfect silence.

His Waterloo came in descriptive geometry — "shades, shadows and linear perspective"—which is a curious bypath of the higher mathematics. It requires something like an ear for music. If you have it, it's duck-soup even for mathematical dumb-bells. If you don't you may be a genius in analytical mathematics, and stub your toe here. Paul didn't have it and here was one place nobody could "get by on his shape."

One of the trick final examination problems was to find the "bright point" on a glass sphere—given the light coming from a certain angle, size, and angle of observation. In photography I think they call it "halation"—a single brilliant point.

It wasn't hard but it was intricate and Paul didn't know where to start, how to proceed, or where to finish.

It gave Paul no pause. He was an excellent draftsman. He covered that board with lines in various colors, making angles from all directions and they didn't mean a thing. But when called upon, he "about faced bravely" and said in the manner of a specialist addressing a clinic: "I am required to find the bright spot on this sphere. Distinguished guests, professor, captain. After due deliberation and great consideration, I have determined that this, gentlemen, is the bright spot." And he slammed the end of his pointer at random against that drawing—no proof, no explanation, no anything. He didn't have anything. It was so bold, so impressive, so absurd that there was at first silence and then homeric group laughter.

But that time Paul didn't get away with it. He got "found."

It reminds me of many things today. It reminds me of Walter Lippman, saying under a title "Mr. Baruch vs. Mr. Henderson" that, after careful consideration, he finds Henderson right in advocating piece-meal price control of only a few things and not wages and farm prices and Baruch wrong in insisting that you must control all or you can't effectively control any or avoid inflation.

His discussion shows that he misconstrued the testimony of both witnesses and that he doesn't know any more about the controlling factors of the problem that Paul knew about descriptive geometry. But that doesn't change his style or stance any more than it changed Paul's.

It reminds me of Stacy May ponderously telling us in the same majestarial manner of just how much we have to increase production and reduce civilian uses in order to beat Hitler in two years when he admittedly doesn't know what the requirements are, what are the resources to meet them or what trend the war will take.

It reminds me of Mr. Averill Harriman saying that Russia will stand with our help when he doesn't know anything more about military principles, the actual condition of the eastern campaign, or our ability to furnish supplies than Lippman knows about war price control or than May about military requirements and our resources or than Cadet Paul knew about the precise mathematics of "shade, shadow and linear perspective."

BRICKER HITS JOB GREED OF INVESTIGATORS

Raps Wholesale Federalization In Speech Before Ohio Society of New York.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Gov. John W. Bricker, after assailing New Deal investigators who he said harassed the work of the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation, returned today from New York to address a meeting sponsored by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce to launch a campaign against non-defense spending.

Governor Bricker declared in a speech before the Ohio society of New York that the federal investigators' "greed for jobs, personal power and political bias too often control their better judgment" he reiterated the BUC inquiry was a part of a campaign to federalize all state benefit systems and asserted: "I will fight to maintain local government in Ohio."

"In the name of defense, even war or social security," he said, "the people of America must not permit this greed for power to destroy local government, the sovereignty of the states or our representative republican system of government.

"It is only a step from complete federalized social security to taking over in the federal patronage scheme of all welfare work. Then comes the United States absorbing the state highway departments. Already we hear plans for federalization of the state and local public school systems.

"The federal government cannot encompass the whole field. It should not try. It would destroy all that we most cherish in government. We are fighting autocracy and lust for power throughout the world. Let's beat it down at home."

"If we do not know more about the needs and interests and hopes of our citizens of our states than all the coordinators, attorney examiners, investigators and bureaucratic order takers and givers that come out of Washington—I'll quit my job," he said.

Governor Bricker estimated that Ohio would have a treasury surplus of $4,500,000 if all the state's obligations were met and rotary funds kept intact.

"The Democrats in Ohio are startled at a surplus," he continued. "They say it is unsound and sinful. They want to call a legislative session to give it away or distribute it to the cities. To my knowledge in Ohio, the Democrats and especially the New Dealers have had no experience with a surplus of any kind. They have dealt in deficits. We are all inclined to be suspicious of strangers."

Just who will be chosen to play the role of "Sheridan Whiteside" in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," the first production of the Community Players, is causing no end of speculation. Generally conceded to be patterned after Alexander Woollcott, drama critic, author, and radio's "Town Crier," the role is a choice but difficult part. Try-outs for the production start Thursday night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and it won't be long after that until the portrayer of the part will be known.

While vacationing in Canada, Ralph Hughes, municipal court clerk, ran headlong into war complications. Hughes and his family have been making a motor tour through the Dominion. Workers in the court received a letter today stating that he had arrived at a Canadian town after sundown Saturday night with the gasoline tank of his car almost empty. Because of the war-time restrictions on the sale of gas after 7 p. m. on week-days and all day Sunday, Hughes was forced to wait until Monday to get enough fuel to continue his trip.

NEGOTIATORS GIVE UP IN WASHINGTON

No Date Set For Resumption of Conferences; U. S. Tank Output Threatened.

(By United Press)

HILLSDALE, Mich. — Government efforts to settle a strike at the Hillsdale Steel Products company and the Spicer Manufacturing company of Toledo, which threatens to stop 70 per cent of the light tank production, bogged down today.

Negotiations were suspended last night, and Federal Mediator James J. Spillane left for Washington. He said Dr. John R. Steelman, chief of the federal conciliation service, had summoned him "to report."

When negotiations would be resumed was not announced, but it was indicated they would not be until Spillane had conferred with Steelman and further federal action had been planned.

The United Automobile Workers (CIO), involved in a factional dispute with the United Automobile Workers (AFL) at the Hillsdale plant, submitted a new peace proposal, offering to return to work if 26 of its fired members got their jobs back and the government appointed an impartial referee to determine whether the dismissals were justified.

The AFL union rejected the proposal as it had an earlier one stipulating that the CIO men would return to its jobs if the 26 discharged men were rehired. There was no proviso for an investigation of the discharges in the first proposal.

Meanwhile, stocks of transmissions for tanks and army "jeep" cars dwindled. The Hillsdale and Spicer plants have contracts to make 70 per cent of the transmissions.

The CIO union struck last week in the Hillsdale plant, charging "favoritism," although the AFL had become bargaining agent by a majority of one vote for the plant in an NLRB election last May. The Hillsdale plant makes parts which the Toledo plant assembles into transmissions, and the CIO, which is bargaining agent for the Toledo plant, invoked a clause in its contract which forbids it to handle products from a struck factory.

DIES IN STORM ON MOUNTAIN

Man, 26, Succumbs on Same Range Where Girl, 5, Survived; 8 Rescued.

(By Associated Press)

JEFFERSON, N. H.—The rugged White mountains, treacherous at this time of year, have claimed the life of a husky young man only a week after five-year-old Pamela Hollingworth came forth alive from eight days of wandering on their slopes.

Caught in a blinding snowstorm at an altitude of about 4,000 feet on Mt. Jefferson while on a mountain climbing trip, L. Carl Haberland, 26, Boston salesman, perished yesterday of exhaustion and exposure.

Experienced mountaineers rescued eight other members of his party, including two women, after three men in the group fought their way through the storm to summon aid.

The party had ascended to Mt. Jefferson's 5,725-foot peak when it encountered rain, snow and subfreezing temperatures.

The combination of the storm and the rarified air felled Haberland. His companions attempted to carry him, but became exhausted themselves and wrapped him in a sleeping bag and placed him in the lee on a cliff, where five of them tried to keep him warm while the others went for help.

News of Haberland's death came only a few hours after Pamela, confined to a North Conway hospital since last Monday for frostbitten feet, was moved to a Lowell, Mass., hospital near her home for convalescence.

'HARASSING HARRY' RAPS U. S. AND CHURCHILL, LIVENS RADIO

(By United Press)

LONDON — A mystery voice, apparently of German origin, which interrupted British Broadcasting company programs with invectives against the government, its leaders and the United States, promised today to become a star feature of British radio.

The "ghost voice," popularly tagged "Harassing Harry," was heard for the first time last night when he interrupted a BBC musical program and shouted:

"Do you know how much money Churchill is being paid by the Germans? Has Churchill played fair with you? We are being swindled, led up the garden path and sold to America."

The average Briton, at first indignant, believed "Harry," a counterpart of Russia's "Ivan the Terrible" who heckles German broadcasters, would become a welcome diversion to British broadcasts, which long have been criticized for their lack of entertainment value.

The wavering intensity of the interrupter's broadcasts often gave his voice a Donald Duck quality which led some listeners to name him "Von Donald." Some believed he would rival Germany's Lord Haw-Haw as a radio novelty for Britons.

There had been no official intimation of the source of the "crashing" of BBC wave-lengths but it was believed it emanated from a powerful station somewhere in Holland, Belgium or France.

It was the first time since the start of the war that BBC programs have been interrupted by outside interference. The radio war heretofore has been between Germany and Russia.

"Harassing Harry's" interpolations were so annoying that at one point, a BBC announcer told his audience, "if you are hearing interruptions, particularly during short intervals, you may take it that these are due to direct interruptions from the enemy."

ILLNESS FATAL

Mrs. Myrtle Straub, 61, Dies; Rites Set For Thursday.

OIL MEN MEET

Will Consider Shipment Ban In Session at Columbus.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Fifty Ohio oil men, members of the newly-appointed advisory committee of the Ohio Petroleum Marketers association, will meet at Columbus tomorrow to consider possible effects of the government order prohibiting gasoline shipments to Ohio from the east coast.

BOARD MEETS

Red Cross Member Drive To Be Outlined Today.

Organization of 650 workers being set up to conduct the largest Roll Call drive ever attempted by Richland county chapter of the Red Cross will be described to the chapter executive board today at 4 p. m., by L. W. Birch, Roll Call chairman.

Meeting in regular October session the board will hear the plans made to achieve the county quota of 22,000 members, more than double the quota of last year, when workers obtained 3,086 members over a quota of 10,000.

Set up by the Roll Call committee as part of its plan to obtain two memberships for every one last year the county slogan "A Membership For Every Job," will be emblazoned on the posters and banners to be installed throughout the county at a later date.

All money received in membership fees by Richland county chapter will remain in this country to carry on the work of the armed forces and will not be used for overseas war relief, according to Birch. The chapter receives half of each $1 membership and the remaining half is sent to national headquarters.

PLAN MEETING

Committee to Arrange for Y. W. C. A. Association Session.

Plans for the annual fall meeting of the Y. W. C. A. association will be made today at 7:30 p. m. at a special committee meeting called by Mrs. F. L. Hanson, committee chairman. The meeting will be held at the Y.

Mrs. Hanson's committee includes representatives of the varied interests and ages of Y. W. C. A. members in the following group: Miss Elizabeth Hainer, a teacher; Miss Charlotte Gray, a business girl; Mrs. L. B. Paste of the Girl Reserve committee; Mrs. W. P. Lytle, of the membership at large; Mrs. Harold Burns, board of trustees, and Mrs. Lester Redding of the advisory board.

BACK AT O. S. R.

Fugitive From Honor Camp Caught In Cincinnati.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke announced today that a 34-year-old Hamilton county man, who had escaped from the Sandusky honor camp on July 14, had been returned from Cincinnati to the Ohio State reformatory here to serve the remainder of a ten-to-25 year sentence.

Glattke said that Richard Lavender, who had been admitted on June 24, 1932, for a robbery in Hamilton county, had been taken into custody by Cincinnati authorities and returned here.

NEGOTIATORS GIVE UP IN WASHINGTON

No Date Set For Resumption of Conferences; U. S. Tank Output Threatened.

(By United Press)

HILLSDALE, Mich. — Government efforts to settle a strike at the Hillsdale Steel Products company and the Spicer Manufacturing company of Toledo, which threatens to stop 70 per cent of the light tank production, bogged down today.

Negotiations were suspended last night, and Federal Mediator James J. Spillane left for Washington. He said Dr. John R. Steelman, chief of the federal conciliation service, had summoned him "to report."

When negotiations would be resumed was not announced, but it was indicated they would not be until Spillane had conferred with Steelman and further federal action had been planned.

The United Automobile Workers (CIO), involved in a factional dispute with the United Automobile Workers (AFL) at the Hillsdale plant, submitted a new peace proposal, offering to return to work if 26 of its fired members got their jobs back and the government appointed an impartial referee to determine whether the dismissals were justified.

The AFL union rejected the proposal as it had an earlier one stipulating that the CIO men would return to its jobs if the 26 discharged men were rehired. There was no proviso for an investigation of the discharges in the first proposal.

Meanwhile, stocks of transmissions for tanks and army "jeep" cars dwindled. The Hillsdale and Spicer plants have contracts to make 70 per cent of the transmissions.

The CIO union struck last week in the Hillsdale plant, charging "favoritism," although the AFL had become bargaining agent by a majority of one vote for the plant in an NLRB election last May. The Hillsdale plant makes parts which the Toledo plant assembles into transmissions, and the CIO, which is bargaining agent for the Toledo plant, invoked a clause in its contract which forbids it to handle products from a struck factory.

$20,000,000 Army Chemical Plant to Be Built In Ohio

IRONTON—(AP)—The war department has decided to build a $20,000,000 chamical plant at South Point, 10 miles east of here, giving the tiny farming community its first major factory.

Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins (R) of Ironton said in Washington that work would begin immediately on the plant, to employ about 1,000 persons in the maufacture of ammonia and other chemicals.

Construction of the plant, to be known as the Buckeye Ordnance works, will take about 18 months, Jenkins said. It will be operated by the Atmospheric Nitrogen company, a subsidiary of the Allied Chemical company.

South Point, a village of approximately 500 persons, lies halfway between the industrial cities of Huntington W. Va., and Ashland Ky. It is on the Ohio river and the Norfolk & Western railroad.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking For Myself.

I SOMEHOW think that if the Hollywood moguls are really anxious to discover another Shirley Temple, the answer is little Lorna Lynn, now in "Panama Hattie."

Kilgallen

Lorna is the third tot to dance across the stage hand in hand with Ethel Merman in the "Let's Be Buddies" number, and she is the cutest to date. Usually, big stars are not fond of playing scenes with children or animals, because dachshunds and four-year-olds have plenty of larceny in them behind the footlights. But little Lorna is so engaging that when the star of "Panama Hattie" talks about her she coos like a fond mama. And the kid can act, too.

* * *

I wish Ray Bolger would do another musical, preferably one that mounts him as magnificently as "On Your Toes" did. In Hollywood his best dancing has been done on the cutting room floor . . . I've heard so many talking pigeon stories that the other day, when a real pigeon lighted on my window-sill, I was quite shocked to discover he had nothing to say but "Coo."

* * *

One of the nicest little stories of the theater (from behind the curtains) concerns Hume Cronyn, the wealthy young actor last seen in the deplorable "Mr. Big." The story dates back to the days when Hume was a student at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. He made a deal at that time with a co-student, whereby, when they both sallied forth into the world of the theater each would receive ten per cent of the other's earnings. Well, Hume has been working pretty steadily, and he has consistently sent the 10 per cent to his friend—who happens to need it.

A young gentleman reader named George A. Foster (at least, he sounds like a young gentleman reader) writes me from Stoughton, Mass., that he is greatly disappointed to discover that I am a brunet. Mr. Foster was deluded by my prose and my voice over the radio into thinking that I was a blond with gray eyes, and when he stumbled upon a photograph of me the other day he rushed to his portable and it was all he could do to condense his chagrin into three typewritten pages, "You SOUNDED," he wails in capital letters, "the way Myrna Loy looks in those 'Thin Man' pictures. Then I saw a picture of you, and you've got dark hair! Dark eyes!"

George, you don't know it, but you are only 50 per cent disappointed. The picture lied. I have dark hair, yes. But my eyes are gray. As gray as a Saroyan mouse.

* * *

My French is none too good, but when Jean Sablon croons into a microphone I always know what he's singing about. L'amour, brother. Just plain l'amour . . . From the Rainbow Room, in the daytime, the sunken promenade of Rockefeller Plaza looks like a dull mirror lying in the lap of Radio City.

THREATENS SUIT OVER MAILING

McCaw Says Ferguson Holds Up Pension Checks.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—State Pension Chief Tom McCaw today accused State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, a Democrat, of "childish, obstructionist tactics" in the handling of pension checks, and threatened to file a mandamus action if necessary to expedite their mailing.

McCaw said that Ferguson's office had about 25,000 checks for recipients in eight counties ready for transfer to the old age pension division last Friday but had withheld them until today.

The recipients were those in Cuyahoga, Franklin, Crawford, Darke, Defiance, Delaware, Erie, Fairfield and Fayette Counties.

DIES AT AGE 75

Mrs. Georgia Case Succumbs After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Georgia Case, 75, of 58 North Adams street, died today at General hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Mansfield, she had spent her entire life here, and was a member of the First Christian church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs Fred Riland and Florence Case; one brother, H. W. Johns; one sister, Mrs. William Frickman; and two grandsons, Alfred and Robert Riland, all of Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, with Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of First Christian church, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

FORMER GALION OFFICER DIES

Charles Ferrall, 71, Dies While Seining Minnows.

GALION—A former city patrolman, Charles Ferrall, 71, died unexpectedly at 9:30 a. m. today while seining for minnows in a creek northwest of Bucyrus.

Crawford County Coroner O. R. Kackley said Ferrall suffered a heart attack.

Ferrall had left home about 7 a. m. with Howard Gree of Galion. The two were netting minnows. Green told authorities, when Ferrall complained about feeling badly. He said he saw that the aged man was going to collapse and caught him in his arms. He ran to a nearby farm house to summon a physician. The body was removed to the Snyder Funeral home.

Ferrall, an officer on the Galion force for a number of years retired in May 1940. He formerly worked for the Erie railroad.

Surviving are his widow, Elma Berry, two sons, William and James, both of Galion and two granddaughters.

WERE CRAFTON SOLOMON, HE'D DECIDE EASILY

Question: How Shall 3rd Floor Room Be Divided Between Police, Service League?

Unless Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton makes a decision soon, members of the Mansfield police department will have to take up sewing or members of the Mansfield Service league will be studying police work.

The Mansfield Police Recreation club is getting ready to build a recreation and locker room on the third floor of the municipal building in the quarters now used by the service league.

Although the service league is willing to give up more than half the room they occupy at present for the police, its members want some of the room reserved for storing their sewing machines.

The police want to store their lockers and other equipment in the new room and to build a gymnasium to help keep fit.

Crafton, who had already promised police they could have a good portion of the room, was besieged yesterday by service league women to cut down the police share a bit. Crafton chivalrously—but tentatively—decided to give the service league room for storing its sewing machines.

Materials for partitioning off the police share of the third floor room arrived yesterday afternoon. Police Chief Meade K. Bates said that the work should be started before the end of the week. The question now is, exactly where should the partition go?

The service league is a volunteer organization which distributes food, clothing and other needs to persons needing aid.

FARMERS TO GET 'INSIDE' OF EXPERIMENTS WITH HYBRID CORN

Richland county farmers will have an opportunity to learn more about hybrid corn varieties at a meeting and inspection trip at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Leland Clever farm on Bell road, one-half mile east of State Route 13 and seven miles north of Mansfield, County Agent George B. Ganyard said today.

D. F. Beard of Ohio State university will discuss hybrid varieties, and Earl Jones, extension agronomist, will talk on "The Place of Hybrid Corn in a Farm Management Program."

Farmers attending the session will see the 20-variety experimental plot which has been in operation at the Clever farm this year under the supervision of the Ohio Experiment station. They will also inspect the corn-drying and grading equipment at the farm.

County Agent Ganyard estimated that nearly 60 per cent of the corn grown in Richland county this year was hybrid as compared with only a few acres five years ago.

Hybrid varieties produced much better under drought conditions this season and withstood heavy wind better than the old common varieties of corn, the county agent pointed out.

Hybrid seed is produced by crossing two pure lines. Clever's farm grows much of the seed used in Richland county and this area of Ohio.

DINE ON DUCK

Gyro Members to Hold Meeting At Possum Run.

Under the chairmanship of Ed Leisy, members of the Mansfield Gyro club will eat duck at Possum Run Country club tomorrow night, instead of meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Motion pictures of big game hunting in Mexico will be shown as an additional attraction. The dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p. m.

BLACK BOOM + + + + + +

By Paul David Preston

(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER XXVI

There was no fire, however. This gusher was not ablaze—praises be!—as the discovery well gusher had been. It had been days of arduous, dangerous toil to get that first blazer under control, and while this new gusher would take some hard work and entail much danger too, it at least wasn't burning.

Before Lillian Mayfield could rush out from the bank building, most of the other townspeople were moving with her in a throng. The big oil mill whistle down by the depot began to sound—hoot-hoot-hoot-hoot-hoot-hoot—a deep-throated proclamation that something sensational was occurring. Its tone carried, people knew, far more than six miles on a still day.

This time the crowd was not touchy, not menacing or prone to fight as had marked the other mass meeting at the Mayfield home. The people simply shared a sense of excitement and elation. An oil gusher is a magnificent spectacle under any condition.

This one had drenched nine huge oak trees and when people began arriving Mrs. Mayfield's row of cape jasmines were completely ruined. The Haltom honeysuckle was gone. The privet hedge between the two estates seemed verily to exude oil, so constantly did the gusher spatter it. And the main stream of the oil fell smash into a gigantic elm near the Mayfield front fence. From there it followed gravity over the sidewalk and into the curbing. The too small storm sewer gratings were blocked almost immediately by sticky black trash.

"Judas gosh!" exclaimed Dal Tower, when he turned his car up the lower end of North Marshall half an hour later. "I'm smack into a black river!"

He had taken the Voss baby home, one of the several charity cases with which Lillian Mayfield had busied herself lately, and then sped back.

The sticky oil was on his tires, ruining them. North Marshall was running curb to center and when the pavement curved uphill near the McDavids the oil cut through the lower-graded Rankin yard, over the Henry Culp terrace and into the rain gully that emptied eventually into Thompson's pond. Before next morning, in fact, all the fish and all the beauty of Thompson's—a 50-year-old picnic and boating spot for this community—were doomed.

Dal was awed by the spectacle. This gusher would complete the job of re-making a town. This one was in no rural forest or cotton field, but was on the town's prettiest, haughtiest street and that street already was befouled by the grease and stench of it. Property values here would already have jumped tenfold. Old traditions, firm old family roots, all of life for a good many people were destined now to be radically changed, and the Mayfields would get either the blame or the credit depending on one's point of view.

"I've got to see Lillian!" Dal murmured.

In second gear he pushed slowly right on up the oilstream, because there was no alternative. Petroleum "had" his adopted town, literally now.

The Mayield oil well blew in on a Wednesday morning, advertised itself by gushing for 28 hours, then settled down obediently under the emergency pipes and plugs and valves forced in by engineers. During literally all of those 28 hours people watched the blowing. Oil squirting sky high was a fascination almost like hypnotism; the crowds just stared, talking but little. There was no disorder. Principal movement, aside from the oil itself, was by amateur movie and still photographers who had a field day.

Mrs. Mayfield went to bed. Her condition, diagnosed by Dr. Watkins as "nervousness," was not critical, but it gave her chance to gather her wits a little and it kept her from having to face the hundreds of gaping faces who gathered on her porch, her side lawn, even in her living room. The house was quite overrun at first by well-meaning friends. Even old Jason was on the verge of nervous exhaustion and the cook, Nora, quit her job and threatened to depart until Jason went personally and slapped her. He added some well chosen words to his chastisement of her. Jason Weems was a force in the Negro community here.

When the gusher stopped, the Marshall street "river" of course ceased to flow. By Friday dawn the trees and shrubbery had ceased to drip oil although they were doomed to die from their drenching. Grass on the lower half of the lawn was gone forever. Grease and smell and generally repulsive "gooey nastiness" as Baby Doll Mayfield phrased it, dominated the once lovely estate. The gooey nastiness was tracked into the house, even upstairs into the daintiest bedrooms. The odor, slightly nauseating to refined sensibilities, was literally everywhere. Nora complained that her lard and her fried chicken and even her chocolate layer cakes tasted and smelled of "petrolyum." It was all a thing to be borne.

Downtown, business had to be reorganized again.

The first oil field had been to the southwest of town some miles from the Mayfield estate. Three or four derricks had crept into town on that side but the north and eastern sections had been inviolate until Mrs. Mayfield dared lease her ground. Now here was a new surge of activity, and within an hour after her gusher began, "hot play" was rampant again. Leasing, buying, trading, making of money on paper deals, losing of money that might have been made, arguments, legal actions by the dozens, a few fist fights, all the hullabaloo of quick booming was repeated. Every inch of ground was now a potential gusher, people felt; to hell with sentiment, money madness gripped everyone.

Shrewdly speculating again, Thad Monroe emerged in a few days as a virtual millionaire and helped his friend M. J. Parker make a small fortune too. Martin Deale still refused to touch any boom business. He held aloof, sullen, dazed by it all. In the excitement his case in court seemed forgotten by everyone except Martin himself, but in due time it would show inexorably and he knew it.

It was on Saturday after the gushing was stopped that Jason found Mrs. Mayfield crying about the whole messy front lawn and the ugliness of her derrick. It wasn't the first time she had lamented all this, either. Jason was deeply distressed. He too had been educated to despise dirt and untidiness. He knew what an offense it was to his beloved employer here.

At about 8 o'clock this Saturday night Jason left his home on the Mayfield estate and went down to negro town, around the railroad depot. He hobbled and rocked past Gus Holleman's store and came onto several colored gentlemen in front of a barber shop. He recognized all of them.

"Stop all this mouth tawking," he ordered, pre-emptorily, "and git me some money outen yo' pockets."

"What for you wants money, Mistuh Weems?" one darky asked.

"Nemmind. You gimme a dolluh, and right now."

"Unh, unh! Yo sho in a hurry!"

"I is. Gimme it."

"You aim to pay it back?"

"Maybe I does, maybe I doesn't. But you gimme it, else I tells what I knows."

"Aw, Mistuh Weems, you knows I always got money fo' my friens."

"All right. Say I is yo' frien', den. But gimme it."

Jason used out-and-out blackmail on half a dozen dark gents, and a more subtle and genuine friendliness on a few more. To those former he merely threatened to reveal certain of their past shady practices with which he was familiar. To the second group he pleaded brotherhood and directorial powers in certain lodges to which they all belonged. As a result he easily collected a pot of $15 cash.

Next move was to order—not request—six husky colored men to meet him at a specified place next morning at sun up. Then he hobbled back to the store and commandeered Gus Holleman's automobile.

"Shucks, you know you cain't drive no cah, Mr. Weems!" Gus tried smiling protest.

"I cain't, but you can. You drives me right now, Gus. I is in a righteous hurry."

"Unh huhn! Is you? Well—"

"I is."

"My sto' needs me to stay—"

"You won't have no sto' if you gits in the pen. You drives me, now."

"Comin'."

They drove up town and Jason got out at the hardware store which also stocked assorted paints. He made Gus stay in the car but he himself rocked in. He had barely 10 minutes before 9 o'clock closing time.

"What you doing in here this time of night, Jason?" the store owner greeted him. "How's Mrs. Mayfield?"

"She right porely, suh? I needs some things."

"All right. Glad to sell you Jason."

The purchases were soon completed. He made Gus come carry them to the car. And while Jason stood on the sidewalk waiting for Gus, a white man slid his car into a space there and parked.

"'Evening, Mr. Dallas, suh!" Jason greeted, lifting his hat in courtesy.

"Good evening, Jason. How's things at home?"

"Well suh, they ain't good."

"No? How's Lillian? Tell me! Is she—?"

"Miss Lillian, she all right. Mostly. She ain't happy in the face, but she ain't down with no sickness. She—"

"She really isn't happy, is she Jason?"

"No suh, for a fack she ain't. Doggone me, I been tryin' figger out what ail her, but this oil mess, Mr. Dallas—whoooo!"

"I know, I know. It's sad, Jason. In a way."

Dal was twirling his car keys idly and staring at the curb in thought. He looked tired, and indeed he had been extremely busy all day. Oil boomers had made his practice a rushing one.

"Jason," he began anew, "Lillian is a wonderful girl."

"She sho' is, suh. Any young man be proud to marry up with her."

Dal grinned. Are you suggesting it?"

"Suh?"

"You think maybe I might have a chance? Me?"

"Aw shucks, Mistuh Dallas! You knows Miss Lillian tuk to you right off. You gimme some money to keep you informed. I ain't forgot it. I tells you again now, you rates!"

"Hmmm. But I get blocked every time I— this town's too confounded busy, Jason. A man needs time to make love."

"He sho do."

PUPILS SHOWING METTLE IN NEW SELLING COURSE

They Win Pay Increases as They Learn Salesmanship By Working at It.

Pupils in the distributive education classes at Senior high school have been placed in 13 Mansfield stores to gain practical selling experience along with academic work along the same lines, J. C. Stout, high school teacher, said today.

The course was started this fall as part of a program aimed at giving pupils a chance to spend their mornings studying commercial courses and their afternoons clerking and thereby gaining both academic and monetary remuneration for their efforts.

Progress of the youthful salesmen has been so rapid, Stout said, that some of them have been given wage increases since they started work.

Students taking the course may carry their regular number of hours, Stout continued, by being credited with three units work during the mornings and one unit for the practical afternoon work.

Last week, he said students worked from 13½ to 29 hours on their afternoon jobs.

Stores co-operating with the high school and employing the student-salesmen are the R. B Maxwell company, Kresge's and Woolworth's five and ten cent stores, Neisner Brothers, Sears, Roebuck and company, the W. T. Grant company, Montgomery Ward and company, the J. C. Penney company, Kobacker's department store, the Muir Drug company, Moskin's Credit Clothing company, and the Bunte Wholesale Candy company.

Stout will go to the distributive education conference Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Columbus, where under the direction of Kenneth Ray, state director of education, he will join with scholastic and business leaders in furthering courses of this type.

Parisians Soon Can Dine Out Without Scissors

VICHY —(AP)— French restaurant customers soon will be able to discard their scissors, which have been used to clip food tickets from ration cards. The cards will be perforated to make the tickets detachable.

Besides scissors — or folding knives with scissor attachments, which have been at a premium—frequenters or restaurants, coffee houses and tea-rooms usually carry small boxes of lump sugar, since only saccharine is served in public places.

Many have special folders for their food cards, with little transparent pockets for "change" slips.

Privileged diners-out also take along foodstuffs received from abroad, sometimes smuggled in by friends. These include soluble coffee, cheese, mustard, zwieback, preserved butter and various delicacies.

Like other aliens, Americans have their own specialties—rye whiskey and peanut butter.

FOREMEN HEAR DINNER SPEAKER

Humorist Gives Talk as Club Opens Fall Program; War Movies Shown.

Speaking and telling stories in the style of Irvin S. Cobb, the Paducah, Ky., humorist, Jack Major of New York, lecturer and writer, last night entertained members of the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club at their first meeting of the season at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Major, who once was a golf caddy for Cobb and now imitates him, kept the foremen in a good humor with his hill-billy stories. He spoke before the group as a represeneative of the Texas company, New York.

His talk followed a dinner attended by more than 200 foremen in Mansfield and Shelby industrial plants. A musical program was provided by the Westinghouse members of the club. Motion pictures of the second World war from its beginning to the present were shown.

P. M. Wooden, of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, new president of the foremen's organization, was in charge. Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, gave the invocation.

HEAR OF DEATH

BUCYRUS—Friends here have learned of the death in Toledo of Jesse Hart, 49, former Bucyrus railroader, who died at his home in Toledo. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

Survivors include the widow, Helen Greenich Hart, native of Bucyrus, and three children, and one grandchild. Mrs. James Greenich of this city is a mother-in-law of the deceased.

Two Get Permits For Construction Of 10 New Homes

Two Mansfielders were given building permits yesterday to construct ten new homes in the city at a total cost of approximately $48,200.

C. J. Burkhart was issued permits to build the following five-room homes: 268 Green street for $4,800; 264 Green street, $4,800; 144 Ohio street, $4,800; 218 Walter avenue, $5,200; 221 Marlowe road, $6,000; 242 Marlowe road, $5,400; and 247 Ohio street, $4,600.

James F. Burkhart was given permits to build three homes at a total cost of $11,600. He will build a five-room home at 276 Greenlawn avenue for $4,000; and two four-room homes at 241 and 245 Greenlawn avenue at $3,000 each.

MILK MIXTURE FOR STOMACH ULCERS

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Try a bottle. It must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Weinberger's, Leed's and drug stores everywhere.

DISTRIBUTE BASS

BUCYRUS — Distribution was made last week of 4,500 small mouth bass in the three Crawford county streams, Sandusky, Brokensword and Olentangy rivers. The fish were placed by Walter Esterline, proprietor of the fish hatcheries east of Bucyrus.

by REX HESS

Could it be that our City News pros are getting too tough?

They were all booked up to play at McKeesport, Pa., next Sunday, but they ain't gonna go to McKeesport.

It seems the McKeesports took a bad trimming at Akron Sunday from the South Akron Awnings, with the Awning second team playing most of the last half.

And the McKeesports, hearing about what a good game the Mansfielders played against the Awnings, immediately cancelled next Sunday's imbroglio.

Now the Mansfield pros are looking for a ball game again.

The Bulldogs of Canton McKinley are blaming some poor quarterbacking for their 13 to 7 defeat at Warren last Friday night.

Leading 7 to 6 at the half, McKinley put on a powerhouse drive in the third quarter that carried the 'Dogs 67 yards to the Warren four-yard mark, where it was second and goal to go.

All along the line of march in that parade they'd been hitting the center of the Warren line for consistent gains. 'Tis thought in Canton they could have made four more yards the same way. But they tried a double reverse and the wet ball slipped out of the famous Jack Crider's hands as he attempted to lateral, and Warren recovered.

Last Thursday, in the rain, I saw Johnny Appleseed pull the same stunt with first down on the Sandusky junior high one-foot line. But the Johnnys held on to the ball, and scored a touchdown. Maybe it was junior high football the Bulldogs were playing for the moment there at Warren.

* * *

McKinley's defeat left only Springfield and Massillon undefeated among Mansfield's future foes. And those two clubs are to be met on the next two Friday nights.

Springfield isn't to be rated off its 9 to 0 victory of Saturday night over Dayton Stivers, a team that hasn't won a game since 1939, and defeated twice this fall before meeting the Wildcats.

Sitting on the sidelines were the regular Springfield ends, Elmer Bean and Jim Palmer, Halfback Lloyd Scott, Fullback Jack Tuttle, and first reserve wingman Jim Wolfe.

Bean, pass snatcher extraordinary, has a twisted ankle, Palmer and Wolfe have charley horses, Tuttle a bruised thigh muscle and Scott a bruised hip. Some of those boys could have played if Coach Jim McDonald hadn't been pointing for Mansfield.

* * *

Don't be too disturbed by the 16 to 6 whipping handed Alliance by Massillon Friday night. Massillon was forced to make goal line stands twice in the last few minutes of the ball game, and led by only 6 to 0 at the half.

Starting the third quarter, Massillon took the kickoff and marched 58 yards for a touchdown. Then according to the Massillon Independent.

"The Aviators appeared to quit then and there. . . . The loss of a couple injured players, key men, may have started it, and there was little left in the way of opposition to the Tigers from there on in."

* * *

Sometimes it isn't such a trix To boost a score from six to 46.

Boxing Comish Holds Up Purse

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Pat (Bang Bang) Mangini, Philadelphia middleweight, was in general hospital today and there was doubt whether he'd receive a purse for getting knocked out last night in the first round of a fight with Cincinnati's Ezzard Charles.

* * *

Mangini took a seven count then toppled to stay before three minutes of the scheduled 10 rounds had elapsed. He missed several roundhouse swings and was hit freely, but ringsiders said Charles did not land any particularly vicious blows.

* * *

Dr. Michael Barrett said Mangini possibly received a brain concussion and would be hospitalized a few days. Bill Goebel, boxing commission secretary, said he'd hold up Mangini's purse, adding he thought it likely the Philadelphia fighter misrepresented his age, condition and possibly his record.

Wildcats Have Big Grid Club

Tygers Face Tough Foe In Unbeaten Springfield.

BOY, are they big!" said Mansfield Tyger Coach Paul Snyder, not too enthusiastically. "They admit their line averages 185 pounds, but it looks bigger than that to me. Their two starting tackles are both well over 200 pounds."

Snyder was talking about the Springfield Wildcats who invade the Stadium lair of the Mansfield Tygers Friday night.

"And that big Bean is a football player!" Snyder continued. "We're going to have to watch that boy. He can really snag passes, and that Brooks Lawrence can throw 'em. We've got work cut out for us this week."

* * *

The Springfield team is not only big, it's a veteran aggregation, with 19 lettermen on the squad. Three members of the starting backfield quartet were regulars last year.

If Mansfield athletic officials had an idea they were booking a breather when they scheduled Springfield the week before the Massillon game, they were preparing for a good, deep breath.

Both Undefeated.

Both the Tygers and the Wildcats are undefeated as they head for their week-end clash. Mansfield's point total may be a bit more impressive, but that difference in weights should even up the pre-game dope sheet. Springfield is coming here with the intention of winning, make no mistake about that.

* * *

The Tygers have piled up 142 points in defeating Akron West 40 to 0, Elyria 39 to 0, Sandusky 32 to 0, and Newark 31 to 0.

Springfield's goal line has been crossed once as the Wildcats added up 73 points to six for the opposition in defeating Cincinnati Norwood 32 to 0, Columbus East 19 to 0, Ironton 13 to 6, and Dayton Stivers 9 to 0.

There were indications on the Tyger practice field yesterday that Mansfield will open up against the Wildcats, using more than the 12 plays with which they've waded through their first opponents.

While Coach Snyder was sending his linemen through a long drill in blocking, Assistant Coach Vern Hoffman had the backs tossing aerials all over the place.

Tickets for both the Springfield game and the game at Massillon next week went on sale yesterday.

Special Train.

The Downtown Coaches association yesterday arranged with the Pennsylvania railroad for a special train to Massillon, leaving here at 5:30 and arriving at Massillon at 6:45 p. m. at 16th street, a five-minute walk from the Massillon stadium. It is scheduled to start the return trip half an hour after the game is over.

* * *

The following stores selling Springfield game tickets will also have combination game and railroad tickets for sale: Yuncker Sports, Tawse's pharmacy, Central Drug company, Mansfield Athletic Supply, and Brown's drug store.

* * *

Combination tickets will cost $2.52 including $1.10 for the game ticket and $1.42 for round trip railroad fare. Persons already having tickets for the Massillon game may obtain the special railroad tickets at that price at any of the places selling the combination tickets, which may also be obtained at the Pennsylvania station. Those wanting only the game tickets should get them at the high school. Railroad fare for children under 12 will be 74 cents.

SEBRING ROLLS HIGH INDUSTRIAL SCORE

Sebring rolled a 582 total on games of 193-215-174 to pace the Industrial bowling league at Colony alleys last night. His 215 was high game, while Tomlinson had the only other 200 score, a 210.

VIRGINIA BACK LEADS NATION'S SCORERS

NEW YORK—(INS)—Compilation of nationwide college football statistics today found Bill Dudley, Virginia halfback, leading the gridiron scorers.

In four games, Dudley has chalked up 56 points—eight touchdowns, one field goal, and five points after touchdowns.

Two Teams Tie For Loop Lead

Managers and Optimists Pace Club Keglers.

Commercial Managers and Optimists remained in a tie for first place in the Club bowling league at Colony alleys last night, as each scored a 2-1 victory.

Four teams, American Legion, Liederkranz, Mansfield Savings Bank and Page Dairy are tied for third place.

Frick of the Commercial Managers led the league last night with a 637 total on strings of 202-244-191, while Bill Black, sr., had 613 on 204-184-225.

Frick's 244 was high game for the night.

Western Has 4th Scoreless Tie

The scoreless wonders of good old Western appear headed for some sort of record in the grade school tag football league.

Undefeated thus far, they also have failed to win a game. Their goal line is still uncrossed, but so is that of their opponents.

Last evening they played their fourth straight scoreless tie, a nothing to nothing deadlock with Bushnell.

In other league games last evening Bowman edged Newman 7 to 6, Hedges took Brinkerhoff 6 to 0, and Prospect and Carpenter played a scoreless tie.

Hunt scored Bowman's touchdown with Gagich adding the winning point, while Pritchard scored for Newman. Hedges' touchdown was scored by McCullough.

HARDER ARM CURED

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Mel Harder, pitcher released by the Cleveland Indians several weeks ago, says the removal of a piece of loose bone from his right elbow has removed the "scrape" from the joint.

Here's How They Did It

SOUTH—Fordham's Rose Bowl-bound Rams almost are upset by the North Carolina squad at Chapel Hill, N. C., but the New Yorkers squeeze through, 27 to 14, after trailing at the half. Jim Noble of the Rams misses a pass here.

MIDWEST—Led by Bill De Correvont, who is playing spectacular football in this, his senior year, Northwestern crushes Wisconsin, 41 to 11, at Evanston, Ill. De Correvont score here. The Wildcats meet Michigan next.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — The Special News Service)—In case you're still worried because your favorite football team lost Saturday, think of all the guys whose big problem is when the weather will turn cold enough to start the ducks flying south. . . . One report from down Delaware way, where the season opens Thursday, says it has been so hot there that shooters will be afraid to try for the high fliers for fear they might spoil on the way down . . . Joe Louis is to be examined today to see if he's fit to fight in the army . . . Wouldn't it be simpler just to ask Lou Nova?

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Tom Sweeney, Worcester (Mass.) Evening Gazette: "Horses are horses, for all that. . . . Run 'em at lovely Tropical park or quaint Rockingham or even Pascoag park, and they have a tendency to reveal an immoderate passion for running out of the money, straight and show."

SERVICE DEPT.

The Fort Ord football team, which has been doing right well on the west coast, as Pete Zagar, for Stanford tackle, playing at fullback. . . . He is there because Lieut. "Snowy" Gustafson, the coach, said so and because Pete is a corporal and outranks the other candidates. . . . Soldiers who were sent from Fort Snelling (Minn.) to Newfoundland, still will be able to follow Minnesota's football fortunes. Movies of each Gopher game will be shipped to them . . . Corp. Cliff Johnson of Selfridge Field, Mich., was one of the first fighters accepted for the big heavyweight "hope" tournament at Detroit. . . . Is there any other army outfit besides March Field (Calif.) that has a private bossing its football team? March Field's head coach is Pvt. Blas Mercurio, who used to play for Redlands U.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE.

Herb Kopf (Manhattan college coach): "When I'm scouting a team I spend a lot of time watching the defense of the club it's playing. Because if they're stopping 'em we want to know how they do it."

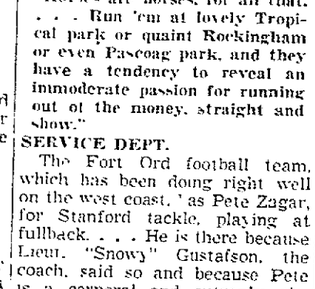
CLEANING THE CUFF.

The football Dodgers have some "discords" too. . . . Five guys with musical instruments trailed them out to Milwaukee Sunday, but didn't see much to toot about. . . . Sacramento is just finding out that Tiny Bonham, the world series hero, is practically a stranger in his own home town. . . . But a guy who has six brothers and six sisters all older than himself, isn't likely to go out looking for publicity . . . The St. Paul hockey club has signed up Jean Baptiste Pusie, who has fought his way out of two leagues in two seasons. . . . Ohio Wesleyan gridders have permission to grow whiskers for the college's founder's day, home-coming and centennial celebrations next month . . . Instead of being "Battling Bishops" they'll be Bearded Bishops.



Adams Scores Win In Rifle Match

Elmer Adams led all contestants last Saturday at a shoot sponsored by the Mansfield Muzzle Loader rifle club on its range.

Entering five matches, Adams won two first places, one second and one third for a 599 average.

Other marksmen who took places were Joe Adams with a .582 average, J. Baldinger, .338; and R. Nixon, .200.

In the 50-yard string shooting match R. Barr placed the three best shots. Measured with a string measure, his three shots were all within 1 01 inches of the mark.

FORMER GRIDDER DIES

BUFFALO—(INS)—Dr. Andrew C. Callahan, captain of the 1901 football squad at Ohio Medical university, which later became part of Ohio State university, died at the age of 60.

Warren In Grid Pack Top Place

Drubs Canton McKinley; Is 'Team of the Week.'

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Coach Pierre Hill's Warren Presidents stood out today as the high school football "team of the week" after batting Canton McKinley's mighty Bulldogs out of the undefeated class last week-end.

The Presidents, decided underdogs against the Stark county stalwarts, scored in the final minute of each half to take a 13 to 7 victory, coming from behind with a 71-yard victory march climaxed by Chuck Scarpaci's one-yard plunge.

The Bulldogs were not the only highly-rated combination to run into a snag. Alliance, East Liverpool, Dayton Fairmont, Washington Court House, Greenville and Crestline, among others, fell for the first time after winning three in a row.

Still up there, rolling along with four straight wins, were such squads as Dover, Warren, Mansfield, Massillon, Canton Lehman, Cleveland Collinwood, Xenia O. S. and S. O., Portsmouth East, Bellefontaine, Springfield, Hamilton, Middletown, Upper Sandusky, and Little Powhatan.

Massillon's marauding Tigers grabbed their 37th straight by beating Alliance 46 to 6, after being held to a 6-0 margin at the half. The Tigers, showing improvement every week, scored the first six times they gained possession of the ball in the second half, Fred (Pokey) Blunt scoring three times, once on a 69-yard gallop, to hike his season's total to 48.

Powhatan, last beaten by Dillonvale in 1939, spotted that team a 13-point edge and then won by 26 to 13 for its 14th straight victory, while Jimmy Robinson's Canton Lehman squad squeezed through by the narrowest of margins, 2 to 0 over Canton Lincoln. Jack Aremelling, Lincoln's star back who tallied 48 points in the first three tilts, was trapped back of the goal line for the winning safety.

Bellefontaine's goal line was finally crossed, but Wapakoneta was downed 9-7 as Bellefontaine stayed in the victory trail.

Portsmouth East, which has 183 points to none for the foe in a quartet of wins, put the week-end's most scintillating scorer on display. Don Reinhardt, East's 140-pound quarterback, waded over, through and around Waverly for seven (count 'em) touchdowns as his team won a 73 to 0 conquest, giving the kid 71 points for the campaign.

He failed, however, to catch Upper Sandusky's captain and halfback, Russell (Flying Express) Wolfe, who tallied four touchdowns to boost his total to 80 points as Upper Sandusky knocked Crestline off the unbeaten perch, 34 to 6. Wolfe, in 13 touchdown jaunts, has covered 511 yards—an average of 39.3 per snoring run. (Wolfe's big brother, Fenton, scored the three touchdowns for Heidelberg which beat Capital university 18-13 last Saturday, giving Fenton the Ohio conference scoring lead with seven touchdowns in three games.)

Portsmouth's usually powerful Trojans finally copped a decision in their fourth start, 31 to 0 over Mooseheart, Ill., and Wilmington did the same, 27-18 over Hillsboro. Mansfield continued to roll along with an uncrossed goal line, beating Newark's good team 31 to 0, although Elroy (Lightnin') Jones was held to a single touchdown. The Tygers now have 142 points and the enemy none.

Marion Harding and Lima Central, each with two wins and a tie, battled to a scoreless deadlock, the second no-score affair of the week for Marion which tied Mt. Vernon 0-0 last Monday in a postponed game.

* * *

Sandusky lost the week's hard luck contest, 7-6 to Elyria. Sandusky scored in the first period, but missed the extra point, which allowed Elyria to take the lead in the closing minutes with a touchdown and conversion. Bob Cooper, Sandusky's fine sophomore back, took the ensuing kickoff and ran for an apparent touchdown, but it was called back because of a midfield rule infraction and the final gun sounded a minute later.

Gophers First In A.P. Poll

Minnesota Again Leads Football Survey.

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK — (AP)—Minnesota starts a new football campaign just where it finished the last one—as No. 1 team in the Associated Press gridiron ranking poll.

The Golden Gophers, who so far have made two successful defenses of this mythical national championship, were made top choice by 66 of the 119 sports experts in the first of the weekly surveys of 1941. On 97 of the ballots they were placed either first or second, and they polled 1,081 points, awarded on a basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, and so forth.

The Gophers' only serious competition came from the outstanding teams of two other sectors—the Texas Longhorns, who got second place with 934 points on the strength of one-sided victories over Colorado, Louisiana State and Oklahoma, and Duke's Blue Devils, whose major accomplishment to date is a three-touchdown victory over Tennessee.

The first ten, composed entirely of all-winning teams, is dominated just as it was a year ago at this time, by the Middle West. In addition to Minnesota, there are the Gophers' chief rivals for the conference title — Northwestern, fifth place; Michigan, sixth, and Ohio State, tenth—as well as Notre Dame, which has won its first three games under Frank Leahy, its new head coach.

Fordham, winner of two intersectional games, is the east's top-ranking representative, at fourth place, with high-scoring but untested Navy seventh. Santa Clara, only unbeaten and untied major eleven left on the Pacific Coast, rounds out the first ten at ninth place.

Biggest game in the country this Saturday, as the poll bears out, will be the clash at Evanston, Ill., of Northwestern and Michigan, first of the season's dog-fights among the Big Ten's ranking powers. With the possible exception of Navy, which tackles Cornell, and Santa Clara, which plays Michigan State, none of the others appears to be threatened.

* * *

Minnesota should have an easy afternoon against sub-par Pitt; Texas, in its first Southwest conference game, plays Arkansas, apparently the "weak sister"; Duke meets Colgate, already defeated by Dartmouth, Fordham should be a strong choice over West Virginia; Notre Dame should have little more than a workout with Carnegie Tech, and Ohio State, off that shellacking of Southern California 10 days ago, shouldn't have much trouble with Purdue.

GALLOPING GHOST WEDS AIR LINE STEWARDESS

CHICAGO — (INS)—Friends and sports fans alike showered Harold "Red" Grange with congratulations today following disclosure the one-time "Galloping Ghost" of the gridiron was married at Crown Point, Ind., late yesterday to Miss Margaret Hazelburg, 24, United Airlines stewardess.

Grange, now engaged in business in Chicago, said he and Miss Hazelburg met a year ago aboard an airliner en route to Omaha. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. T. Hazelburg of Sagola, Mich.

Fans Fight For Duckets

Last Tickets For Buck-Purdue Tilt on Sale.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— While fans scrambled for the last few seats, Coach Paul E. Brown indicated today that the Ohio State Bucks would "shoot the works" offensively against the threat of speed and power that Purdue brings to Buckeye stadium Saturday.

Brown makes no pretense at hiding the genuine concern he feels for the fate of the Bucks in their first Western conference tussle of the year.

Since their return last Wednesday from the 33-0 push-over of Southern California, offensive maneuvers against Purdue's defense setup have predominated practice drills.

* * *

"On defense the Purdue team is plenty good, not having allowed a touchdown this year," Brown said. "Purdue is big and fast and has a fine passing attack. Now the Boilermakers have had two weeks to get ready for us, and you can bet they'll be in tip-top shape."

Vanderbilt beat Purdue 3-0 on a field goal in the season opener, but the Boilermakers shut out Pittsburgh 6-0 the following week

With a line averaging 202 pounds and a backfield stacking up at 192, Purdue outweighs Ohio State in nearly every position.

Only Buckeye on the hospital list is Dick Zimmerman, sophomore tackle, who probably will be out for another week with a leg injury.

Meanwhile, Henry Taylor, director of ticket sales, predicted a sell-out crowd and said he would be surprised if he had any tickets left by Thursday morning.

The last 6,000 reserved seat tickets and 7,500 general admission went on sale yestedday. Buckeye stadium seats 72,000.

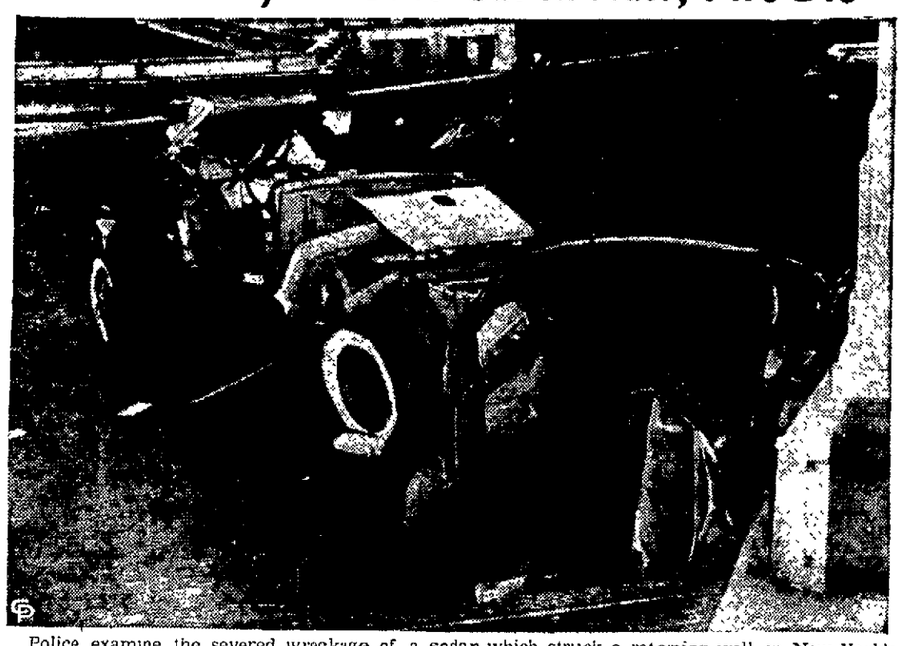
Death's Scythe Cuts Car In Half; Two Die



Police examine the severed wreckage of a sedan which struck a retaining wall on New York's west side elevated highway, killing two and critically injuring a third. The car was cut in halves.

Battered Ram Team Faces Fresh Loudonville Squad

Madison's Rams will face a fresh team Friday at Loudonville. While the Rams were fighting a knock-down-and-drag-'em-out battle with Mt. Vernon last week the Loudonville squad was enjoying an open date on their slate preparing for the Madison threat.

So far this season Loudonville has been undefeated and unscored on.

Opening their season they drubbed Danville 31-0 and then went on to score two more wins. Doylestown fell next 13-0 and on Oct. 3 Bellville went down 18-0.

Meanwhile the Rams on three tilts and lost two. So far the Madison squad has beaten Galion 12-0 in a practice game (full time and playing conditions), New London 19-13 and Mt. Gilead 12-0. Games lost went to Mt. Vernon 19-0 and Dennison 26-6.

Playing in good condition though the Madison squad has so far escaped a serious injuries although a couple of the backs have been more than a little battered and as the season goes on more and more boys are licking old wounds.

Ken Windsor, Harold Hammer, Reynold Bell and Willy Wynn have been carrying the load in the Ram backfield with Bob Anthony and Bob Garns filling in.

Big threat at Loudonville seems to be Ken Nouse. Reports of their games show that the fullback has been doing practically everything for them. In the Bellville game he took part in each of Loudonville's three scores and in the Doylestown game he also was there when the ball went over.

Not only does he do the Loudonville line plunging but he also heaves their passes and against Doylestown scooped up a blocked kick and ran it over for the extra point.

RUEL SIGNED TO ASSIST WHITE SOX MANAGER

CHICAGO — (INS) — Herold "Muddy" Ruel, pitching coach of the Chicago White Sox, today was signed to a three-year contract as assistant to Manager Jimmy Dykes.

Signing of Ruel for three years marked only the second time that a major league coach has been signed for so long a term. Only other coach to receive a similar contract was Frank Shellenbach of the Boston Red Sox.

Rider Faces Bet Probe

Racing Commission Hears Charges Against Meade.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The riding future of dashing Don Meade, the Peck's bad boy of racing, is in the hands of the New York state racing commission.

Alarmed by published reports that Playboy Don had bet $300 against his own mount in a race at Jamaica track last Tuesday, Chairman Herbert Bayard Swope ordered an investigation and today is to read the report of Chief Steward Marshall Cassidy, who conducted it. If the commission should find Meade guilty of any infractions he is liable to a life suspension.

Meade has emphatically denied the allegations and according to Mr. Cassidy his committee found no evidence to substantiate the report. Cassidy told the writer:

"We have called Don Meade before us for an explanation of an article in a New York newspaper which said Meade had bet $300 on Tony Pandy in a race in which Meade rode another mount. Meade emphatically denied it."

Cassidy added that he had checked with Meade's agent and the detective agency which surveys the activities of the jockeys but uncovered no evidence which would substantiate the story.

"We will present our report to Mr. Swope today," continued Cassidy. "I think he, and possibly Mr. Meade, might ask the author of the article for more facts on the case.

SHOWS NO FRACTURE

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—An X-ray examination of Don Boehler of Lorain, sophomore end of the University of Kentucky football team, showed no skull facture but Dr. Jack Rafter said the boy would remain in the hospital for a few days for treatment of a concussion and would be out of football for two weeks. He was injured in the Vanderbilt game Saturday.

Feller Believes In Fining Tribe

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— Bob Feller believes that some of the Cleveland Indians should have been fined $1,000 for the boners they made last season.

"I guess I made a few myself," the Indian mound star remarked today on a brief visit here. "On second thought maybe the fines should have been rated according to salaries. I should have paid $1,000 for my bad pitches and they should have paid in relation to their salaries."

Feller doesn't think the Indians next year would finish very high, with or without him, unless they acquire more batting punch.

BUDDY WALKER LOSES BOXING DECISION

BALTIMORE, Md.—(INS)—Clarence (Red) Burman of Baltimore, today held a close split decision over Buddy Walker, Columbus colored heavyweight.

Burman, weighing 188, led in the early rounds of last night's 12-rounder with some telling infighting and punishing blows to the kidneys that slowed Walker up. The Columbus boy, weighing 193½, began getting in some telling blows of his own in the eighth round and battled Burman on better than even terms in the closing stages. There were no knockdowns.

PENNSYLVANIA YOUTHS TO RUN 600 MILES

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— John B. Kelly, director of the Hale America campaign, announced today that 2600 Pennsylvania schoolboy athletes may participate in the 600-mile marathon run from Erie to Independence hall in Philadelphia starting Oct. 31.

Bearing an aluminum baton containing a message to President Roosevelt, the relay runners will finish the 12-day race in this city on Armistice day, Nov. 11, Kelly stated.

CHICAGO TRACK OPENS FALL RACING SEASON

CHICAGO —(INS)— Sportsman's Park opened its 18-day, $130,000 meeting today in the last stand of horse racing in the Chicago area until next spring.

Two feature events headed the inaugural program—a $1,000 inaugural handicap, a five-furlong gallop for 2-year-olds, and the $1,200 Columbus handicap at the same distance for 3-year-olds and up.

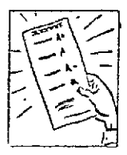
AT THE AGE when a boy is "under construction" . . . when he is going through his formative years at school . . . that is the time when his basic knowledge and experience are most likely to determine his future.

Academic work or "book learning" is increasingly necessary in this busy, highly competitive world. It is a decided advantage for a boy to couple up his school work with a Newspaper Route.



Utilizing but a small part of his spare time, a newspaper boy gains a practical business experience of inestimable value . . . it is a schooling that can't be learned in books, yet it sharpens wits, develops eagerness and alertness which accounts for the high percentage of newspaper boys who are above average in school. Of importance too, they are making good money . . . they EARN while they LEARN.

When boys pass 'teen' age or graduate from school, they start out on that long road of destiny. Newspaper Boys are well equipped to Travel At Their Own Risk...thanks to one of America's foremost industries...The Newspaper.

CIRCLEVILLE, O.—(U.P.)—Although he's within the draft eligibility age, 34-year-old George Harrison Thomas, Circleville, isn't worried about going into a military camp for a year's training.

Thomas has learned that his weight—515 pounds—will keep him out of the army. He's 6 feet 1 inch tall and wears a size 22 shirt collar and No. 12 shoe. His waist measures 70 inches.

Of the 1,451 bills that were introduced in the house of the Colorado legislature only 170 of them were approved and sent to the senate.

NEED $100? HERE'S WHAT TO DO

Tell us how much you need, $20 to $500; how much you can repay monthly; and answer a few simple questions.

Loans made three ways (1) on signature (2) on car (3) on furniture. No endorsers. Friends or relatives are not told. Fair treatment in case of sickness or unemployment. Payments include charges of 2% monthly on balances of $300 or less and ½% monthly on any remainder—the same rate to everyone. Nothing else to pay. To apply—phone, write or visit office. Money ready next day—or sooner if necessary.

STEEL MILL OPERATIONS STILL CLIMB

Business Analysts Study Report Showing 98.4 Per Cent Output.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks shifted unevenly in narrow ranges in today's early market dealings.

Among over-the-holiday developments scanned by analysts was the report of the American Iron & Steel Institute placing steel operations for the current week at 98.4 per cent of capacity, a rise of .3 of a point over the previous week's rate.

Merchandising sources had pleasing reports on the volume of retail trade Columbus Day, one of the biggest shopping days of the year.

Preliminary estimates indicated that department stores in New York experienced sales gains averaging 10 to 15 per cent over the comparative Monday a year ago.

WILD PIG WINS FIGHT TO EXIST

Peccary Roam Deserts of the Southwest, Thrive on Cactus, Chaparel.

(By United Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz.—An estimated 14,000 peccary, a form of small wild pig, still roam the cactus deserts of Arizona and another 20,000 survive in Texas and New Mexico, the National Park Service estimates.

They thrive in the dense cactus and chaparal of southern Arizona and the marshy swamp thickets of Texas as well as the rocky canyons of New Mexico.

Until a recent survey was made, the park service officials feared that the peccary was fast vanishing and soon would be extinct. But despite their many natural enemies, augmented now by gun-carrying men the peccary appear to thrive.

The strongest reason for the peccary's survival is the tear-gas barrage of musk it ejects when in danger. The musk hog pollutes the air with a secretion that causes other animals to flee.

The odor comes from a musk gland in the animal's back. The musk discharge discourages attack while the little pig is making a dash for safety in a thicket, log or pile of rocks.

The attacking animal finds its throat choked, its nostrils stopped and its eyes burning. Even if it persists, captures and kills the peccary, the flesh is fetid with the musk discharge.

The peccary usually travel in bands and go on excursions through the brush. They have a leader and one of their number stands guard against sudden attack, usually heralded by a squeal.

The peccary looks like a pocket edition of the European wild boar, except that its tusks turn downward instead of up. It eats roots, plants, berries, acorns, carrion or flesh.

When the white man first came to North America, the peccary was the only pig on the continent. Fossil bones reveal its presence for millions of years.

Because men hunt the peccary for sport, the animal is comparatively scarce in the United States. Other forms are found in Mexico and Central America.

STUDIES CASE

Judge Takes Dir Wage Suit Under Advisement.

The mandamus action of John Dir, former city employe, asking that City Auditor Paul L. Kelley be ordered to pay him $84.50 in wages earned the past summer, was being studied by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today after an agreed statement of facts had been presented to the court by attorneys for both parties.

Hearing of the case was held by Judge Huston yesterday afternoon with H. H. Schettler acting as counsel for Dir who claims that he is eligible for employment with the city although he is past the age of legal retirement.

Re-appointed by Mayor William J. Locke after he had been retired Jan. 1, by the mayor, along with eight other veteran employes who had passed the age of 70, Dir had his salary upheld by Kelley for work done in the summer after City Solicitor M. D Ward, jr., had ruled Dir was illegally rehired

Ward held that Dir cannot be reappointed except for a temporary period even though he had withdrawn his retirement fund contribution instead of accepting a pension.

Says He Isn't Well, Won't Re-Enter Ohio Political Arena.

LIMA, O.—(AP)— Vic Donahey, one of three three-term Ohio governors, does not intend to abandon his political retirement to seek the office again, according to Francis W. Durbin, Allen county Democratic chairman and sponsor tomorrow night of a huge party rally

Durbin said today that he telephoned the retired U. S. senator Monday and was told that Donahey had no further gubernatorial aspirations There have been frequent reports that some party leaders favored the vote-getting Donahey as the most likely Democrat to regain control of the state administration.

Donahey does not plan to attend tomorrow's rally because he isn't "feeling so well," Durbin said He is living at nearby Indian lake

ASPEN FORESTS SERVE DEFENSE

Wood Being Utilized For the Commercial Production of Cellulose.

(By United Press)

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. — Minnesota's vast aspen forests are being utilized in national defense industry with construction of a "pilot plant" for the commercial production of alpha cellulose, basic raw material for the manufacture of munitions, rayon, celluloid, plastics and similar products.

Consfruction of the plant, sponsored by the Northwestern Research Foundation, follows seven years of scientific research at the University of Minnesota in the utilization of aspen wood, great tracts of which lie in northern Minnesota.

R. H. M. Robinson, president of the paper company, predicts that within a few months "manufacture of alpha cellulose on a small scale will begin and present plans call for the production of approximately 500 pounds of the cellulose pulp a day." The plant is being built on a "test" scale and if the venture proves satisfactory, plans will be made for large-scale operations.

Alpha cellulose is a vital raw material used in everything from photographic film, rayon yarn, lacquers and plastics to the manufacture of high explosives. It is one of the major raw materials of the chemical industry.

Research scientists estimate that the raw material can be produced from the aspen forests in sufficient quantities to supply the entire world.

The Minnesota aspen forests constitute a vast and as yet untapped natural resources. The trees are so thick and grow so fast that the present supply is more than enough to meet the present world demand.

The Northwest Research Foundation, an organization of civic-minded men started in 1933 to develop Minnesota's natural resources, entered into an agreement with the Minnesota and Ontario Paper company for the alpha cellulose plant because of the company's proximity to the source of supply of the aspen wood, and because machinery used at the plant in the production of paper is readily adapted to the production of cellulose pulp.

DRAFT DODGER RELEASE SEEN

Attorney General Biddle Asks Dismissal of Charges Against Bergdoll.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Early release of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, widely publicized World war draft dodger, from the United States army disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., was indicated today in a request by Attorney General Biddle for dismissal of 23-year-old indictments pending against him and other persons.

The justice department announced that Gerald A. Gleeson, United States attorney at Philadelphia, had been instructed to ask dismissal of the old indictment, returned between July, 1918, and June, 1920, under the 1917 selective service act.

It was learned simultaneously the existence of the old charges was brought to the attention of the attorney general by a letter from a high war department official stating that Bergdoll had asked for a parole and inquiring, as is customary practice, whether any charges still were pending against him. The official, explained that if any charges were pending, the army would be prohibited from granting him a release.

The attorney general was said to have looked into the matter and, finding the old indictments, to have decided that they should be removed since the justice department did not intend to prosecute them.

Bergdoll is serving a seven and one-half year sentence imposed by military courts for desertion, escape and draft evasion.

Maybe It Would Be a Good Idea To Buy the Topcoat You Don't Need
When you get right down to it, there is only one group of men who have no use for a new topcoat . . . they're the chaps who have already purchased one of these fine garments this fall.
Slip into one and walk over to the mirror . . . will you?
